REV. DR. MILLS LEAVES TOWANDA

Becomes Superintendent of the Syracuse District, Succeeding Dr. Campbell.

DR. CAMPBELL BECOMES PASTOR OF TOWANDA CHURCH

Rev. W. H. S. Loller Transferred From Monroeton to Odessa, N. Y. Rev. W. P. Miller Remains With North Towanda Charge.

Rev. Edmund M. Mills, D. D., for the past year pastor of the Towanda Methodist Episcopal church, has been made superintendent of the Syracuse district and will cease his labors in the City of Promise. Rev. D. D. Campbell, D. D., for the past six years superintendent of the Syracuse district comes to Towanda to take up the work of Dr. Mills, the two gentlemen simply changing places.

This change was made at the annual Central New York conference which came to a close at Ithaca early yesterday morning. The appointments were made about midnight.

Other Changes.

A number of other changes were made in this, the Elmira district of the conference. Rev. W. H. S. Loller has been transferred from Monroeton to Odessa, N. Y., and Rev. E. L. Yerdon of Yorksville, will take Mr. Loller's charge at Monroeton. Rev. B. G. Sanford is transferred from Laquin to New Albany, and Rev. J. E. Showers becomes pastor of the Laquin church. Rev. Mark Schuyler is to be the new pastor at East Smithfield; Rev. B. J. Williams will continue at Canton, and Rev. H. B. Allen will remain at Troy for another year at least. Rev. C. L'V. Haines goes from the Ulster charge to Truxton, N. Y., and Rev. E. G. Evans goes to Ulster. Rev. D. B. Kellogg will have charge of the Burlington pastorate, and Rev. E. S. Annimal takes up the work at East Troy.

Conference Notes.

Ordination services were conducted at the Conference Sunday, Bishop Hamilton preaching the ordination sermon and instructing the class.

There were nine candidates consecrated, among them one woman, who was made a deaconess. She is Mrs. Charity A. Converse of Clifton Springs The others were: Deacons, Hiram G. Burley of the Indian mission, Samuel G. Haughton of Jamesville, Floyd M. Purdy of South Atselic and F. J. Paul of Van Etten; elders, A. H. Youell and William T. Fitzgerald of Pennsylvania, Henry L. Crosley of Ledyard and C. E. McKelvey of Wayne.

The conference decided to hold its session in 1910 in Lyons, Wayne county. Unusual significance is attached to this announcement, as Lyons is the mothertown of the conference and next year the centennial celebration of its existence will be held, bringing thousands of visitors to the village.

In 1810 a conference known as the Genesee Conference had been organized in Captain Daniel Dorsey's barn, which was at that time called a storehouse in Lyons. The structure was chosen for its greater capacity. Captain Dorsey was of a prominent Methodist family and a great worker in church affairs. He had constructed a new barn and the meetings were there conducted by the pioneer bishop Asbury.

The present Genesee Conference will meet next year in Rochester at the same time the Central New York Conference is held in Lyons.

It is planned to erect a large memorial tablet or monument on the site of Captain Dorsey's barn in Lyons and to have it unveiled on a day during the conference. There will be many hundred persons in attendance at the ceremony. The Genesee Conference will go to Lyons on the day of the unveiling 300 strong. The monument will be built as near the spot occupied by the barn as possible and will be made from many of the stones of the old barn foundation. A program of addresses will be arranged.

A unique case is that of E. F. Stidd, a minister, who has left the jurisdiction of the Central New York Conference and has "jumped" to Duluth, Minn. A special committee to investigate his case and ascertain whether it should come up for trial, was appointed. Mr. Stidd belonged to the Elmira district.

One of the pleasing incidents of Saturday was the presentation of a purse of gold, $75, to retiring District Superintendent Campbell of the Syracuse District.

ATTORNEY J. T. McCOLLOM PASSES FROM MORTAL KEN.

Former District Attorney Died Monday Afternoon After Long Illness.

J. T. McCollom, Esq., former district attorney of Bradford county, and one of the best known men in this section, died at his home in Troy borough Monday afternoon at 2:15 after a long illness.

Some time ago he sumbitted to the amputation of one of his toes on the left foot, and on Monday of last week another operation was performed, the remainder of the foot being removed, gangrene having developed. He was very ill at the time, and the operation was the only avenue for relief. His weakened condition could not withstand the fearful strain, and death relieved him on Monday.

James T. McCollom's life was one of great activity. He was brought up on a farm, where, by application to his studies during evening with the assistance of his father he was prepared to teach in district schools. By teaching and a short attendance at the Gilbertsville, N. Y., academy, he was prepared to enter Cornell University in 1868 and graduated in 1872. He worked on the University farm during spare hours and vacations to assist in paying his expenses. For twelve years after his graduation from the University he was engaged in teaching and was for eleven years principal of the Troy High school, during which time the school was thoroughly organized and very prosperous.

He was admitted to the Bradford County bar in 1882. He formed a partnership with Hon. Delos Rockwell of Troy in 1884 with whom he had studied law, and practiced with him for two years, since which time he had practiced by himself, and has been engaged in much of the important litigation of Western Bradford. From 1896 to 1899 Mr. CcCollom served as District Attorney and acquired the reputation of being an efficient and obliging officer. His diligence and ability were highly complimented by the court and appreciated by the citizens of the county. Mr. McCollom served the Republican party twice as chairman of the county committee. In 1902 he gave up his candidacy for Representative at the request of prominent Republicans, at a great sacrifice to himself, in the interests of party harmony as he was led to believe. Four years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate for Register and Recorder, and again in 1908 he sought the Republican nomination, being defeated by the present incumbent, William Foyle.

Mr. McCollom was an able lawyer, and had a host of friends throughout the county who will regret to learn that he is no more. Deceased is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Louis Hurlbut, of Mont Clair, N. J., and Mrs. Lisle Michael, of Ames, Ia.; also three grandchildren.

Judge Fuller Takes Peep.

Judge Fuller has been peering into the compensations of Court interpreters and stenographers in Luzerne county, which expenses increased to an aggregate of $14,083.13 in 1908. The pay of stenographers is $10 per day, no matter how many hours they serve, with extra remuneration for transcribing, so that a Court stenographer may earn from $3000 to $4,000 a year. The interpreters are paid $5 for each day's service, of no matter how few hours.

D. Ridgway of Terry; spectacles and spoon over 200 years old, by A. J. Petrey of Monroe; copy of Benton's 30 Years in U. S. Senate, by Mrs. Geo. S. Homet of Homets Ferry.

BRADFORD COUNTY'S GREATEST GATHERING

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND AT THE FAIR

Attendance Thursday Largest in the History of the Agricultural Society.

GREAT MASS OF PEOPLE ENJOYED BIG EXHIBITION

Basing Estimate on Number of Paid Admissions, Added to the Other Tickets of Admittance, Management of Fair State that Crowd Was By Far the Largest Event on the East Towanda Grounds.

The Bradford County Agricultural Society Thursday at the East Towanda fair grounds entertained the largest number of people ever assembled at one point in this county. It was the third, or "big day" of the annual fair and exhibition held under the auspices of the Agricultural Society.

W. J. McCabe, president, and S. Bergen Park, secretary of the Society last evening placed the attendance figures at 25,000. This estimate was made on the number of paid admissions added with the complimentary, special, exhibitors, helpers, and other tickets of admittance. The gate receipts were the largest in the history of the Agricultural Society, and the oldest member could not remember when there were more people on the grounds.

Came From All Directiosn.

The morning trains on the Lehigh, S. & N. Y., and W. & N. B., all brought large crowds. Waverly, Sayre, Athens, Owego, and many towns up the line sent large delegations; from as far South as Tunkhannock great throngs of people came, and the S. & N. Y. train with extra coaches brought people from Canton, Ralston, Laquin, Powell and Monroeton. The mills at Laquin closed down and the populace of that thriving town headed by the splendid Laquin band boarded the S. & N. Y. and came to the City of Promise and thence to the fair grounds. Towanda factories were closed for the day, there was no school, and everybody had the "fair fever."

Opportune Rainfall.

Wednesday night a rain storm visited this section, and considerable water fell, enough to make people fear for a rainy Thursday but in fact there was just enough to lay the dust and make the country roads ideal. As early as 6 o'clock in the morning teams pulling two and three seated wagons, carrying whole families were passing through Towanda enroute to the fair grounds. And every road leading to the grounds were black with teams, autos, and pedestrians, all headed for the big fair. The spacious grounds for once seemed crowded, and the managers of the fair had great difficulty in finding places to hitch teams. Ground never used before for such purposes was given up for standing room for a horse, team or auto. Many teams had to be tethered outside the grounds, there being no room inside after 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

So great was the crowd, that it was necessary to delay horse races while the track was cleared, the people swarming out on the course, being unable to find a point of vantage along the fence.

Good Natured Crowd.

And best of all it was a good natured crowd. Everybody was happy. There was good natured jostling, the merry "hello, Bill," or "how de do, Kate," the cry of the showman, the spiel of the novelty vender, the music of the splendid Laquin band, all lending enchantment to the scene.

Midway Packed.

The Midway, or "Amusement Avenue" was packed with people, from the merry-go-round to the lower end near the horse stables. Here everybody did certainly enjoy themselves in the good old fashioned way.

Something Doing All the While.

During the afternoon there was not one dull moment. The horse races, athletic events, baseball game, and open air exhibitions furnishing amusement and excitement for the mass of people packed in the grand stand, and along the stretches. The horse races were good; the athletic events were hotly contested; the baseball game was one of the best seen in this section in years, and the exhibitions by Standford, the wire king, and Camille DePue with her trained horse, were exceptionally fine.

The Horse Races.

The horse racing events were the 2:27 class and the free for all. Both were exciting. Following is the result:

2:27 Class, Purse $200.

Scott Gardner, Tingley	4	4	2
Nettie B, Gorsline	1	1	1
Pearlemore, Sherwood	3	3	4
Mable F, Felton	2	2	3

Time—2:26¼; 2:29¼; 2:30.

Free For All, Purse $300.

Joe Wilkes, Tyrrell	1	1	1
Wm. M, Marshall	2	2	3
James Sheldon, Meredith	4	4	2
Major Ross, Carpenter	3	3	4

Time—2:19¼; 2:20; 2:22.

The Athletic Events.

The 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and the three mile race were pulled off without a hitch. All three events were hotly contested.

There were three starters in the 100 yard dash, Bird of Forksville, Sadler of New Albany, and Fairbanks of Laquin. Bird was first, Sadler second and Fairbanks last. Bird's time was 10¾ seconds, exceptionally fast. Bird's purse was $10, and Sadler's $5 in this event.

In the 2:20 yard dash there were also three starters, Peer of Sayre, Sadler of New Albany and Bird of Forksville. Bird won this race in 24 seconds, with Sadler and Peer finishing in order named. Bird's prize in this race was $15, while Sadler received $5.

Three Mile Race.

The three mile race proved very exciting the finish between Chas. Capwell and Dougherty for first and second places being very close, Capwell winning out by about a yard. Charles Crandall of Towanda, was third. Five of the other runners came under the wire in a bunch. There were eleven starters in this event, as follows:

C. R. Fitzwater, Canton; C. E. Dougherty, Canton; Charles and William Crandall of Towanda; P. H. Capwell, Sayre; Hopper Stroud, Charles Capwell and Robert Gerould of Athens, O. A. Goodwin of East Towanda; and George F. Ammerman of Ulster. Harry Peer of Sayre, paced the runners for the first mile. Ammerman led the bunch for the first mile and a half; and at the end of the fifth lap Goodwin was leading, with Capwell and Dougherty both close up. Goodwin thought that the three miles had been covered on the fifth time around, and after making the turn on the first quarter stopped. Seeing the other runners coming he started again, but lost his stride and was passed. Dougherty also thought three miles had been covered after the fifth lap, and stopped for a moment, but seeing the other runners legging it he resumed and crowded Charles Capwell all along the last half mile of the race. Fitzwater was compelled to drop out on the third lap on account of cramps. Charles Capwell received $25; Dougherty $10 and Crandall $5 for the second and third prizes.

Towanda Defeated Laquin at Baseball

The baseball game between Towanda and Laquin for the championship of the county was a pretty contest. Towanda won by the score of 4—1. Laquin got one score in the first inning, and led the way 1—0 until the seventh when Towanda got three men across the pan, and in the eighth another one of the county seaters scored. Cranmer and Bazzett was the Towanda battery, and their work was superb. Cranmer pitched a masterly game, and should have been credited with a shut out. Rockwell and Jennings were the Laquin battery. For seven innings Rockwell was invincible, the Towandians being unable to get the ball in safe territory. The feature of the game was a one handed catch by the Laquin left fielder. The following players took part in the game: Towanda—Bazzett, Cranmer, S. Putnam, V. Putnam, Corbett, Rockwell, Linderman, Matthews, and Parsons. Laquin—Jennings, Dunfee, G. Rockwell, Cook, Smith, Wooster, H. Rockwell, Gorman, and Riemer, Jesse Madigan of Waverly, umpired the game in a very satisfactory manner.

The crowd about the diamond was so great, that it was necessary to stretch a wire entirely around the playing field.

WEDNESDAY'S ATTENDANCE WAS LARGER THAN LAST YEAR

Good Crowd Attended the Fair on the Second Day.

The attendance on Wednesday, the second day was much larger than a year ago, a big crowd being in attendance. The features were much larger than a year ago, a big crowd being in attendance. The features were the band concerts by the Rome band, the exhibition by Leon Stanford, the slack wire artist, Camille DePue and her trained horse, and the races.

Following is the summary of the two racing events:

WEDNESDAY'S RACES.

Following is the complete result of the two events:

2:20 Class, Purse $300.

Tom S., Smith	4	4	3
Milton O., Tingley	3	3	3
Philetea Medium, Northrop	1	1	1
The Bride, Moore	2	2	4

Time—2:20; 2:20¼; 2:20½.

2:35 Class, Purse $200.

Time—2:27¼; 2:28; 2:26½; 2:30½; 2:34.

The officials in charge of the races were James Wilcox of Wilkes-Barre, starter; Paul E. Maynard of Athens, clerk; Hon. R. S. Edmiston, Dr. C. H. Lane W. H. Rockwell, E. W. Elwell and Gilbert Holmes, judges and timers.

HORSE RACING WAS THE FEATURE OF CLOSING DAY

Philetea Medium and Ora Mapes Were Having Battle Royal in 2:16 Class When Last Named Speeder Became Ill.

The annual exhibition and fair of the Bradford County Agricultural society came to a close Friday after four pleasant and successful days. The gate receipts for the four days were the largest in the history of the society.

The crowd on the closing day was not as large as expected, the extremely cold weather keeping many away. There was a good attendance, however, the gate receipts being considerably larger than last year on the closing day. The "Midway" was the point of interest for the majority of the people, although the races in the afternoon kept the lovers of horses interested.

Good Races.

The two racing events were about the best of the three days, both the 2:25 and the 2:16 class being hotly contested.

In the 2:16, "Philetea Medium" owned by H. H. Northrup of Monroeton, and "Ora Mapes" owned by William Weatherby of Lewisburg, had a battle royal which ended only when "Ora Mapes" became ill. The first two heats were taken by "Ora Mapes," with "Philetea Medium" a favorite. The third and fourth heats were taken by "Philetea Medium" in easy fashion, and the owner of "Ora Mapes" discovered that his horse was ill. The animal was brought to Towanda and taken in charge of Dr. Marshall, the veterinary. Last midnight the doctor had but little hope of the animal's recovery.

Following is the summary of the two races:

2:16 Class.

Philetea Medium	2	5	1	1
Brighton	5	4	3	2
Ora Mapes	1	1	2	4
Phoenix	3	3	5	d
James Sheldon	4	2	4	3

Time—2:20¼; 2:24¼; 2:23¾; 2:23½.

2:25 Class.

Nettie B.	1	1	1
Dunville Chimes	4	3	4
Direct J.	2	2	3
Hattie S.	5	5	5
Pearlemore	3	4	2

Time—2:28½; 2:26¼; 2:26¼.

PITIABLE DEATH.

Former Trojan Died in York County Almshouse—Was a Soldier.

A dispatch from York, Pa., says: Michael Buckley, 77 years old, a veteran of the immortal One Hundred and Forty-Seventh Regiment, New York Volunteers, which was almost wiped out in the first day's fight at Gettysburg, died at the county almshouse, where he had been taken after several boys found him wandering in the woods near Red Lion, homeless and almost starved. He lived long enough to give his identity and Troy, Bradford county, as his home. His remains were laid at rest under the soldiers' monument in Prospect Hill cemetery by General John Sedgwick Post, G. A. R.

Buckley's regiment fought under General Reynolds. Its colonel having been killed and its lieutenant colonel and major being desperately wounded there was no one to issue an order to retreat, and the regiment stuck to its position until cut to pieces.

FRED BARNES OF ROME, KICKED IN BACK BY HORSE.

Animal Planted Both Feet in Small of His Back—Seriously Injured.

The only accident of any consequence on the East Towanda fair grounds Thursday happened late in the afternoon, when Fred Barnes of Rome, was kicked in the back by a horse and seriously injured.

As near as can be learned, a crowd of men on the North end of the grounds were pulling and hauling each other. A team of horses unhitched from the wagon were standing near, and Mr. Barnes in getting close to the crowd of surging people, was pushed against the horses, one of them striking out with both hind feet, planting them in the small of Barnes' back. He was knocked down, and imediately lapsed into unconsciousness. Dr. Charles Reed was summoned, and upon examination found Barnes to be seriously injured. His spine is affected, and he is temporarily paralyized from the hips down.

The doctor thinks that he will fully recover, although he will be confined to his bed for some time.

Hon. C. F. Wright For Governor

Says the Binghamton Press: "The name of the Hon. C. F. Wright of Susquehanna is being mentioned for the Republican nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania. The press of the State has repeatedly stated that the honor of furnishing a candidate belongs to northeastern Pennsylvania." Several of the Philadelphia papers have contained similar items, saying that an effort is being made to secure the Republican nomination for Northeastern Pennsylvania and if the effort is successful the nominee will either be Mr. Wright or former Lieutenant Governor Watres of Lackawanna county. The latter is an avowed candidate for the nomination but the former will not say anything in reference to the matter.

Scrantonians Very Liberal.

With an eloquence that swayed an audience of more than 2,000 to tears, laughter and soulful song in turn, Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, Monday night, occupied the pulpit of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church in Scranton and made so earnest and touching a plea for funds for the establishment and equipment of a Salvation Army hall and industrial home in Scranton that pledges for more than $26,000 were received from people inthe audience.

Hydrophobia Kills Waverly Boy.

A little more than a month ago residents of Waverly were shocked by the knowledge that a dog had gone mad and had bitten three children. Two of these were later sent to the Pasteur Institute in New York city and two weeks ago returned home safe from danger of one of the most terrible diseases known to the world. The third, John Murry, three years old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murry had received only a slight scratch on its face which was cauterized, and no ill effects were noticed. Last Friday the little fellow fell from a grape vine and hurt his back and side, and at once became very nervous. Doctors were called, and the little fellow rapidly improved, and on Tuesday was able to go out and play. That night he became ill again, and spinal meningitis was pronounced. The little fellow suffered terribly until Thursday morning when death relieved him. Dr. W. E. Johnson and Dr. C. F. Griswold signed the death certificate giving hydrophobia as the cause of death, all the symptoms during his last illness leading them to that conclusion.

THE LOAFER.

Tom Browne, the English Artist, and One of His Models.

Tom Browne, the English black and white artist, told the following story of one of his models: I used to have as a model a long, thin youth who was a golf caddie on Blackheath. I made a water color study of him and put in a street corner background. Before sending it to the frame maker's I wrote on the back in pencil a suggestion for a possible future title, "A Loafer." The frame maker after framing the sketch put it in his window until such time as he could send it up to me, with a card on the picture bearing the title, "A Loafer—By Tom Browne."

One morning the caddie came to the side door and asked to speak to me.

"There's a picture of me in a shop winder darn in Greenwich."

"Really?"

"Yus, an' all me pals 'ave seen it." (With a sudden fury.) "I ain't no loafer, I ain't. I'm a respectable caddie, I ham, and you've got to take it hout of the winder."

I assured him that I knew nothing of the matter and was very sorry.

"That be blowed for a tile," he retorted. "I'll mike yer pye damerges for this. I've been to my solicitor, and 'e sez 'e can mike yer."

In the end I fixed it up by a little tip, an old coat and a drop of something. Of course I had the picture taken out of the window. The caddie has not sat for me since.

Old Legends About This Beautiful and Ancient Flower.

The beautiful narcissus is a very ancient flower, and poets of all times have sung about it. It bloomed even as long ago as when gods and goddesses were supposed to live on the earth. The old Grecian legends say it was the flower the maiden Proserpine was gathering when Pluto took her away to his dark home under the ground.

Another legend tells about a beautiful youth named Narcissus. His father was a river god named Cephissus and his mother a nymph called Liriope. The wonderful beauty of the youth caused many to love him, but he was cold and indifferent to all.

A poor little nymph called Echo loved him so dearly that she pined away and died because he would not care for her.

At last Nemesis, the goddess of retribution, decided to punish him for his hard heart.

She caused him to fall in love with his own image as he looked into a stream, and as he could never reach this beautiful reflection he gradually perished with hopeless love.

His body was changed into the beautiful flowers which have ever since borne his name.—Pearson's Weekly.

OCTOBER MAGAZINES.

Lippincott's.

So many alluring books are brought out in the autumn that magazine publishers—wise ones—make extra efforts to improve their fall numbers in order to keep their share of the attention of the reading public. One of the October magazines gotten out by wise publishers is Lippincott's, which is sufficiently meritorious to hold its own with the most fascinating of the best sellers. The complete novel is "Melissy," a tale of Cowboyland as it is today. The author is William MacLeod Raine, who also wrote "Ridgeway of Montana." Any one who reads one of Mr. Raine's Western tales can have no doubt that he has actually lived in that country and acquired his local color at first hand. There are a number of short stories, all bright and clever, and many other articles.

THE CENTURY.

The most timely feature of the October Century is the Clermont chapter of "Fulton's Invention of the Steamboat," written by the inventor's great-granddaughter, Mrs. Alice Crary Sutcliffe. This second of two valuable historical articles is devoted to the Clearmont's making, launching and history; and the narrative includes many of Fulton's own letters and manuscripts now published for the first time, in addition to autographic plans for the Clermont, recently discovered. Among other timely articles of the number is A. Barton Hepburn's discussion of the question, "Is a Central Bank Desirable?" contracting the rigidity of the United States currency with the flexibility of the currency of other nations.

St. Nicholas.

The October St. Nicholas is a rich, interesting, all-around number, bringing the last installments of several of the splendid serial features which have made the year so attractive.

MRS. PEARL SOLLICK SETTLES WITH LEHIGH.

Wife Received Damages For Death of Husband Who Was Electrocuted.

Terms of settlement have been reached in the action of Mrs. Pearl Sollick of Homets Ferry, formerly of Sayre, against the Lehigh Valley railroad company.

Mrs. Sollick's husband was electrocuted while employed in the Lehigh's locomotive shop in Sayre during September 1907. He had been at work beneath an engine which was standing on a pit, and crawled out, apparently trying to climb from the pit when he dropped. His fellow workmen picked him up, carried him to the Robert Packer hospital and there it was found he had been killed instantly. He was a strong, healthy young man and the cause of his death was at first a mystery. A postmortem examination was made and the first noticed by the physicians that led to suspect the cause were two small burns on his back. They were evidently burns caused by electricity.

All the organs of his body were in exceptionally healthy condition but his blood was black and had not coagulated. This proved that he died from an electric shock. The Lehigh claimed that he could have received no shock in the pit and the matter is still a mystery. But one thing was evident, he was in the pit when he was electrocuted, even if the Lehigh cannot explain how the pit came to be charged. For this reason the Lehigh settled.

The terms have not been made public but Mrs. Sollick probably received several thousand dollars.—Sayre Times-Record.

Scranton Great on Typhoid.

Two years ago Scranton had a typhoid fever epidemic, and a general clearing up of the water resources of supply followed. Today, from reliable Government statistics, it is shown that in a list of 50 cities in the United States, only two have a lower typhoid rate than Scranton. During the past year the death rate from typhoid fever in that city was at the ratio of 10.5 per 1000, whilst in Philadelphia it was 35.7 per 1000.

FOR A MERCHANT MARINE.

In a speech at Seattle last week President Taft pronounced in favor of an American merchant marine, which means American ships to carry American goods. We believe the policy will commend itself to the people of this country, and that it should be one ofthe things to receive serious consideration at the coming session of congress. In international commerce there are almost no American ships. Our foreign trade is immense—perhaps the largest in the world, and we are now engaged more actively than ever before in efforts to enlarge it. But our goods are carried not by American ships, but in vessels belonging to foreign transportation companies. To reach these foreign markets we are compelled to use foreign ships almost entirely because American ship-building and shipowning has been denied the protection given to other interests which must meet foreign competition. President Taft believes that American-built and American-owned merchant vessels should be placed on a par with foreign competitors by governmental assistance in the way of some form of subsidy or special rates for mail service given to American ships. In his Seattle speech the President recommends that the profits of from six to eight million dollars a year now realized by our government on its foreign mail service be utilized to put on a satisfactory basis two or three Oriental lines of steamships and several lines from the East to South America. This would be a beginning and a good one. Let congress take the matter up. The president seems to have come to a decision on the matter deliberately, and will doubtless urge it on the national law-makers.

"Political Observations" in the Bradford Star last week, from an East Smithfield "Republican," reads very much as if it had been written in the Star office, and we rather think it was. The writer is booming Bob Edmiston for congress, to succeed congressman Pratt. With "Honest Bob" for congress and the Star supporting him we would have a picturesque campaign. But we have inferred that the Star desired Mr. Kipp for its congressional candidate next time. Is the Star trying to nominate both the Republican and the Democratic candidates for congress, with the intention of supporting both? It is evident that if Mr. Kipp should desire to try it again for congress in 1910 he will not be obliged to resign the state treasuryship in order to get into the congressional lists.

Pennsylvania, we are glad to note is alive to the importance of forest conservation, and, if we mistake not, stands well forward among the states in regard to the matter. The state forestry commission on Friday last approved proposals to buy 12,400 acres for the forestry reserves. Of this amount 6000 acres are in Cameron county and 5000 in Clinton. The remainder are in Franklin and Perry and will be added to the reserve named in honor of ex-Governor S. W. Pennypacker.

The Wilkes-Barre Record says that detective Mulvey has drawn $13,000 from the county in three years, according to the testimony brought out in the hearing to revoke his license. With detectives at that price and cuspidors and umbrella racks for the new court house at figures disclosed in the grand jury's finding we should think Luzerne county's pocket book was in a fair way to be emptied.

Samples of food examined at Harrisburg the other day were found to contain more than a legal limit of benzoate of soda in nearly every instance. A contemporary remark that this is but one illustration of the folly of allowing the food poisoners any liberty at all in the matter.

The ticket as arranged by Boss Guffey was put through the Democratic state convention at Harrisburg yesterday.—Bradford Star, Aug. 5.

A HOMOEGENEOUS PEOPLE.

President Taft, in one of his Washington speeches, dwelt upon the homogency of the American people, a fact which has been impressively brought home to him on this trip. His remarks also illustrated the difficulties of legislating so as to give the same satisfaction to all classes and sections. We are all alike, we Americans, in many ways, but the great difference lies in our thoughts, likes and the different ways in which we view exactly the same problems in different localities. It all "depends upon whose ox is gored." The President said:

"We all wear the same clothes, even to the latest fashions in the bonnets of the ladies: we all speak the same language and have the same aspirations. One of the things that strikes one going around the country is the exactly similar attitude the people all occupy toward the questions that affect them in the same way—not towards the same questions, but toward those issues towards which they have the same relation.

"In the indignation of gentlemen of the range states with reference to free hides you have the counterpart in North Carolina, for instance, where they are distinctly in favor of $2 lumber, not as a protective tariff, of course, but,"—and the President spoke with great mock gravity—"in order that the revenues of the government may be maintained."

THE INDIFFERENT ELECTORATE.

It becomes more and more evident that one of the greatest drawbacks of a republican form of government is apathy of the voters. The people can rid the state or the nation of any abuse of power or privilege, or of any evil combination of dangerous men or interests if they will to do it. There are too many who don't care. He who would be free himself must strike the blow. It seems almost a hopeless task to reach large numbers of voters and get them out to a caucus, or even to a local or general election. That we have continued corruption in any spot is not the fault of our scheme of government, but of the people, for the people choose the men who make the laws and enforce them. The people can have what they want. This has been proven time and again. The indifference of the electorate is so plainly the cause of much of the corruption that exists in public affairs that there is continual talk of making the casting of the vote a compulsory act.

ONE ELECTION LESS.

Do not forget that at the coming Pennsylvania election, on November 2, the preposed constitutional amendments are to be voted on, and that the main intents of these amendments are to make one election less a year and to separate local and general issues. It is proposed that the local and general elections shall be held on different dates. It is proposed that the general elections—those at which state and national officers are chosen, shall be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the even numbered years, and that the county and local elections shall be held on the same date in the odd numbered years. Should the constitutional amendments be adopted (and they probably will be) the February election will be done away with. The elmination of the February election will save Bradford county annually about $1,400 a year and the townships of the county an aggregate sum of about $1200 a year, making a combined saving of approximately $2,600.

The Bradford Star prophesied last Summer that if the other counties would do half as well as Bradford Mr. Kipp would be elected state treasurer by a large majority. And that was the last of the Star's claims as to what Mr. Kipp was going to do in Bradford county. We haven't heard a word from it on the matter since. The ancient Argus announced about the time of the nomination that if Mr. Kipp ran he "would have all the vultures in the state after his money", and that "the glory of such a campaign vanishes." This, we think, was the last word from the Argus on the local campaign. Our Democratic contemporaries are not having much fun this year.

Here is another medicine for the consumptive, and not a hard one to take, according to The London hospital: "Some English physicians are ordering patients to eat oysters that have been well soaked in sea water, as a cure for dyspepsia and tuberculosis. The good effects of the sea water, which is too acrid when taken alone, is increased by the albumen, fat, hydrocarbons and mineral salts, especially phosphates contained in the oyster. The oyster is at once a tonic and a food."

In the first two weeks of September last year 569 homeless men asked aid of the New York Association for improving the condition of the poor. In the same period this year the number of applications was only 194. There was a decrease of 20 per cent. in the number of families asking for help. This tells about as eloquently as anything that our former good friend, Prosperity, has arrived and will register for a considerable stay.

It has been proven beyond contradiction that the establishing of rural free delivery mail routes and improvement of highways have invariably increased farm values from 25 to 50 per cent. A man purchasing a farm will not always inquire. "Is it situated on a R. D. route?"

A WORD TO THE BOYS.

Brother Harter, of the Bellefoute Keystone Gazette, gets off the following editorial, which it would be well for the boys to read and heed

It has been truly stated, "Distance lends enchantment," and the city looks well from the old farm. Perhaps you do not see thorns and thistles, but they grow in the city thicker than on the farm. Home discipline may be hard to bear, but in it are germs of all successes. Parents are midway in the temple of life and certainly must know more than those standing on the threshold. It is always safe to listen to the voice of wisdom and affection. You may not be permitted to control all things at home but please remember before seeking the large liberty of the city that you can control nothing there. You may wear store clothes, but you must be the servant of all. Liberty and ease are the fruit of toil. The boy that knows more than his parents goes to the wall in the city. Success depends upon industry, obedience, economy and purity. Brown hands, clean tongues and hearts are in great demand in the city. A country loafer becomes a city loafer and neither country or city has use for either. The earthquake never breaks the ground so as to heave gold at their feet. Boys who present noble and manly lives for recommendations may win anywhere. In the city you must begin way down, but, if you smilingly submit to the inevitable and make each day tell how much rather than how little good work you can do you will be on the line of promotion and in time may rise, but think not the way as strewed with heartsease and roses; there is many a bitter pang and sharp thorn that will pierce you, but if you dare to grapple with them you may even win the great city.

UNLAWFUL TO EMPTY SEWAGE IN STREAMS.

Susquehanna borough is up against a proposition that Towanda and other Pennsylvania towns will doubtless soon be called upon to face. The residents and the town council of the first named borough have been notified by the state health department that it is unlawful to dispose of sewage into the river at that place as it pollutes the water. A demand is made upon the council of Susquehanna to furnish the state health department with a plan for a sewage disposal plant not later than Jan. 9th, next. This plant, it is estimated, will cost not less than $30,000 and is the only method by which the town can be sewered which will conserve the health of the community and conform with the law.

The Transcript observes that it is a hard proposition to face but it says there is no way out of it and it is up to the local authorities to get busy. If all the boroughs and cities of the state are to have enforced upon them the changing of their sewage systems, it will call for expenditures greater than many of them will be able to bear. There is now talk going on that the state should aid in making these changes. Such a proposition, however, does not seem fair to the majority of the taxpayers of the state. There is no reason why the unaffected taxpayers of outlying districts, especially those of rural communities, should be called upon to bear any of the borough or city expense in this direction.

The authorities of the borough of Towanda are liable to be called upon at any time by the state health department to discontinue polluting the waters of the Susquehanna.

Good intentions are seldom negotiable for cash. Ask the lazy schoolboy why he doesn't study and advance with his class. He will tell you that he intends to—sometime—but he never does. Ask any improvident man or woman why they don't save and lay up something for a rainy day. They will tell you they intend to—sometime—but they never do. Ask any slow, unprogressive business man why he doesn't discard his old antiquated ways of doing business and adopt new, up-to-date, progressive methods of sales and advertising. All such will tell you that they intend to, next week, or next month, or next year—but they never do.

Man has so far advanced that he is able to fortell great storms and give warnings of their coming, but he has not yet discovered any way by which the effects of that storm may be minimized, beyond moving out of the belt. Melancholy examples of this are the recent hurricane which struck New Orleans and its vicinity and the great wave which threatened Galveston earlier in the season says the Altoona Tribune.

There is a war being waged just at present in Georgia between the federal and state judical authorities. The trouble started over the supposed existence of an illegal distillery and the arrest of a government official who refused to give testimony before a county grand jury. The federal judge ordered the man's release on a writ of habeas corpus, and the sheriff of the county, acting under orders of the county judge, has refused to permit the man to go. This is real legal trouble.

Peary says that in six months the whole truth will be known about the discovery of the North Pole. That is a long time to expect an impatient public to wait, especially when its natural curiosity has been keyed up by accusations of "gold bricking" and bad faith. The merits of the case are yet unknown, but Dr. Cook's attitude is now winning much popular sympathy.

BUYING.

This week a Towandian received by mail, unsolicited, a copy of the price list of Montgomery, Ward & Co., of Chicago. These price lists are sent out by the million all over the country, and by the thousand over Bradford county, and many of our home people are doing a part of their trading with this or some other firm which does its soliciting by mail. The Towandian referred to told the Reporter-Journal representative that Montgomery, Ward & Co. couldn't have his trade, but that he would do his buying at home. Would that everyone were of the same mind and purpose. If all Bradford countians who give Montgomery, Ward & Co. and like firms a share of their trade would stop the practice and buy entirely at home, many thousands of dollars would be kept at home and serve to improve local markets and conditions. Perhaps it is futile to preach to our readers on this matter. This is a free country and people can and will buy where they please. It remains a fact, however, that trading with away-from-home merchants is a bad practice. It benefits Montgomery, Ward & Co., or whoever it may be, but in the long run it does not benefit the Bradford county buyer, and is unfair treatment to the home dealer. There are plenty of home dealers who will give you just as good goods as any foreign house, and at prices that will compare favorably with those of the foreign house. There are considerations involved in this matter of trade which should induce a buyer to favor the home merchant even if he does pay a slightly higher price. The fact that a wholesale firm in New York or Chicago will furnish you something at a price a few cents lower than the home dealer asks for it is not conclusive evidence that it is best to buy it of the wholesale firm. The difference of a trifle in the price does not contain the whole argument or tell the entire story, and it is a short-sighted person who claims that it does.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIVE.

The most important amendment to the state constitution, on which the people are asked to vote this Fall, is "amendment five," which provides for a general election once in two years, instead of annually in November, and in even-numbered years.

Public sentiment favors the reduction of the cost of elections. This will, if it is adopted, abolish the Spring elections. State officers will be elected in the even-numbered years and the local election for city, county, township and borough officers will be fixed for the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in the odd-numbered years. The Legislature is authorized to change the day of election if two-thirds the members of both houses concur, but the constitution will separate the state and local elections if the people vote for this amendment. It is a step forward, and it ought to be carried.

The present mode of having two elections each year is expensive. Since the cost of the primary elections have been added it has become burdensome. The February election in many places long since became a farce, anyway. There is every reason why it should be abolished.

Then, too, unworthy local candidates often relie on presidential years and the party spirit for a straight ticked to carry them through. If this amendment prevails they will have to face the music, for the local elections will always be in the so-called "off" years. This proposed amendment has everything to recommend it.

NO PARDONS.

The Pennsylvania pardon board refused the other day to interfere with the death sentences imposed on the Luzerne county murderers, Stanley Nazarko and Tom Willis, and there is no doubt it did right in doing so. The Pennsylvania board of pardons has been doing too much pardoning and has earned a somewhat unenviable reputation. The crimes committed were cold-blooded and brutal and there was no doubt of the guilt of the condemned men. A Scranton contemporary familiar with the case in commenting on the action of the board said:

The Pennsylvania pardon board had no moral right to interfere in the cases presented from Luzerne county. It has had no right to interfere in other cases that have made courts of justice farcial in the past in this state. It is to be hoped that the new leaf has been turned over for good this time, and that the Pennsylvania pardon board will not be looked upon as the court in which the cause of the murderer, the forger, the election crook and the footpad may be tried over with every chance in favor of the criminal.

The campaign in Pennsylvania is quiet as the grave. The Republican ticket will be elected as usual. But if there were more Democrats in Pennsylvania,—enough of them to put up a fight and make things doubtful, state politics would be far more interesting. And more than that, it would be for the good of both parties and for the good of the state. On either side the voters don't know who who the candidates are, and we have no doubt that hundreds of Republicans and Democrats in the county have entirely forgotten that next month one county officer will be chosen—a jury commissioner. The Republican candidate for the office is A. C. McGovern of Athens. Let Republicans see to it that he receives a large vote.

A REGENERATED COTTON FARM.

During the past four or five years the department of agriculture at Washington has issued bulletins giving account of some of the best managed farms of different types to be found in the country with the idea that such practical object lessons would be beneficial to other farmers not meeting with so large a measure of success. The plan has seemed to be a decided success, and much interest has been manifested in the published bulletins. The latest to be put out by the department is farmers' bulletin No. 364, which gives an account of a profitable cotton farm in South Carolina. Seven year ago, when the present owner took possession of this piece of land, it was a played out, rundown proposition, a type of scores to be found in the cotton belt, producing but five to eight bushels of corn or 300 pounds of seed cotton per acre. The methods adopted for its regeneration were a deep and thorough cultivation of the soil, the use of barnyard manure and some commercial fertilizers, the rotation of crops and the exercise of industry and good judgment on the part of the owner. The farm contains 132 acres, only half of which is devoted to crops. The first year the new methods were tried one and one-half bales of cotton and thirty-seven bushels of corn were produced per acre. At present the owner gets a yield of two and one-quarter bales of cotton, eighty-five bushels of corn and eighty bushels of oats per acre. He keeps twenty-four head of native cattle, mainly for the manure, though they give him a small profit besides. From a discouraging and bankrupt proposition this farm has been brought to the point where it yields a large income and a handsome profit. The bulletin, which may be had by writing one's representative or senator or to the department at Washington, should be in the hands of every cotton state farmer who is not making the most of his agricultural opportunities. It will give him light.

TIME TO WAKE UP.

It is becoming more apparent every day to those who have a thought for the future welfare of our varied and extensive horticultural interests that congress should take up at an early date serious consideration of laws which will secure a stringent and thorough inspection of fruits and all kinds of nursery stock brought into the country or shipped from state to state. Measures of this kind have been before congress at previous sessions, but somehow the nurseryman has seemed to have a bigger pull than the enormous fruit growing interests of the country. It's time this thing was turned about and the large class who suffer from the shipment of diseased nursery stock were given a hearing. These people have representatives at Washington; but, as in a good many other instances, it is the "other fellow," the special interest chap, whose claims are first considered. To show the need of the enactment of a law of the character referred to, there may be cited from many instances the importation last year on pear and apple seedlings from France of numerous nests of the brown tailed moths, the worst insect pest known, and the scattering of it all over the country. Much the same thing took place in the case of the European scale, resembling the San Jose scale, which was likewise scattered broadcast. These are cases in which an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure and costs but an infinitesimal part as much. A number of states have stringent inspection regulations, but these only effect a partial relief. Such laws should be made nation wide.

OPENINGS FOR HUSTLERS.

Opportunities for securing cheap land that has real value are about gone. Henceforth the energies of those who do not go to Canada or elsewhere will have to be devoted to a better handling of lands already under cultivation or the restoration of those which have been reduced to bankruptcy through long continued soil robbery. While there would be discouragements at the start, it would seem that along this line there are many good openings in eastern and southern states for any man who has the grit and intelligence necessary to succeed in a pioneer proposition. The regeneration mentioned can be effected through a more thorough cultivation of the soil, the use of natural and commercial fertilizers, the adoption of a crop rotation which should include one of the legumes—clover, alfalfa, field peas or beans—and a change from the selling of the raw products of the farm to marketing the finished products in the shape of beef, mutton, pork, poultry, dairy products, etc. Many a farm in the sections mentioned is being made over by the adoption of these methods, and hundreds of others may be if the right man gets hold of them.

The chief drawback with the best hired men that one can get is that they are likely to possess brains and energy enough so that just as soon as possible they like to go into business on their own hook.

While it is not an infallible sign, it is usually the case that the fewest weeds are found on the farms which are best and most profitably managed, as the strength of soil consumed in producing them cannot be utilized by growing crops.

If the young pigs are weak boned and break down on the way to market or before, it is pretty good evidence that the ration given them has not had enough bone forming material in it. This is just as necessary as the fat and flesh forming elements and may be provided by feeding the pigs wood or cob charcoal and ashes during the growing period.

The temper and disposition of the cow are largely determined by the care she receives as a heifer. This is brought to mind by a fine little Jersey heifer we know of that was bothered by some thoughtless little girls. She has sharp horns and now makes for any girl of the same size who happens to come near her. A bad habit has been formed, and the horns will have to come off.

Argentina exports more beef to the United Kingdom than does the United States, and no small part of her ability to do this lies in the 9,000,000 acres of alfalfa which at present furnish much of the forage for her beef cattle. It takes from one to two acres of the legume to carry a mature steer through the year. The best steers raised are sold for export and fetch the grower about $50 per head.

For two or three years past sheepmen of the southwest have sustained some loss from what is styled by the Mexicans "pingue," an ailment resulting from the eating of the rubber plant or weed. While little systematic study has been given the disease, a ranger on the Carson national forest reserve in New Mexico has tried drenches of hot water and salt with very good success, the drenches being given every hour until the animals showed improvement. Speedy relief followed the application of the remedy, which, to say the least, is cheap and harmless.

It is frequently stated by those opposed to the tuberculin test as a means of ridding dairy herds of tuberculosis that if the tuberculin is injected into the system of an animal not affected it will contract the disease as a consequence. This misconception seems to overlook the fact that the culture which is used in making the test is thoroughly and completely sterilized before it is used, making a contraction of the disease in this manner by a healthy animal an impossibility. Moreover, the extensive use of the tuberculin in testing hundreds of dairy herds gives practical proof that healthy animals do not contract the disease in the manner suggested.

Recent inspection of a great many fields of tilled crops—corn, potatoes, etc.—seems to indicate without exception that the poorest crops are to be found on the fields which have been given least cultivation and bear the largest and rankest crop of weeds. There's a vital connection here that a good many tillers of the soil ought to be waking up to.

A farsighted landlord we once knew used to hurry up the fall plowing by offering his tenant a premium of so much per acre for all of the plow land that was turned under before the 1st of September. Under this plan the tenant was forehanded, while a whole lot of weeds were kept from seeding and fouling the land for the following year. The plan is one that many another owner might follow with profit.

While an overfeeding of immature corn may not be the direct cause of hog cholera or swine plague, as it is commonly known, it undoubtedly does cause a disordered condition of the system, which makes it easy for disease of any kind to get a hold. Corn is likely to be cheaper and hence more generously fed than last year, and naturally the danger from the source mentioned will be correspondingly increased.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD.

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED: CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pinhead on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm, and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I poulticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was well I poulticed it. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further.

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal a sore or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Burkhart, 236 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

ARBITRATORS FIND IN FAVOR OF THE LEHIGH.

Mrs. Flossie Sheldon Loses in Her Suit For Damages.

John W. Codding, Wm. E. Lane and I. McPherson, three well known Towanda attorneys, as arbitrators Wednesday filed their finding in the case of Mrs. Flossie Sheldon vs. the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, which they heard this week, making an award in favor of the defendant company.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Sheldon to recover damages for the death of her husband, who was killed on the Lehigh near Skinners Eddy. He was a trainman and it was alleged that a pile of ashes left between the rails, caused him to fall from a car on which he was riding, the ashes catching his feet and dragging him off under the wheels, where he was decapitated. The defense was that the accident was due to Sheldon's carelessness.

Hon. E. M. Dunham of Sayre, and David O. Decker of Waverly, were the attorneys for the plaintiff, while William Maxwell represented the defendant company.

The case will probably be carried to court.

They All Know It.

Says the Williamsport Sun: "As a 'City of Promise' Towanda is making good this week. That town promised the people the best fair that was ever held in Bradford county, and we have The Review's word for it that that kind of a fair is now on. It's an old-fashioned agricultural exhibition without any of the objectionable sideshows, and considering the drought of the past summer, which interfered with such things as mammoth pumpkins and other bumper things, the lay-out of big things at Towanda's show is of surpassing merit."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT CAMPTOWN SEPT. 25.

Over One Hundred Representatives Attended Meeting.

The North Eastern Bradford Sunday School Convention was held at the Presbyterian church in Camptown, on Saturday, September 25. It was an ideal autumn day and nearly one hundred representatives of the different Sunday schools of the district were at the convention and participated in the discussion of the various themes with marked enthusiasm.

The following subjects were presented and elicited earnest discussion: The home department, the teachers training class; the cradle roll, the primary class, the use of the bible in the Sunday school, and the ideal superintendent. The paper on the Teachers Training Class by Mrs. Wm. Kennedy was so excellent that its publication was requested by the convention. The president of the association, W. T. Morrow and the secretary, Miss Anna Titus were commended for their work in making it a successful meeting.

The officers for the coming year are: P. A. Smith president; W. H. Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Charles Canfield, secretary; Miss Ceone Vandermark, treasurer. The superintendents of the several departments are the same as formerly.

BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS

Reported That It Is To Be Made "Pullman Flyer."

The advisability of making the Black Diamond Express a "Pullman flyer" is said to be under consideration at the present time by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. officials.

Under the Pennsylvania laws the railroad cannot charge excess fare on the Black Diamond to patrons traveling entirely within the State. If all the cars are Pullmans passengers will be obliged to pay for Pullman accommodations as well as the regular fare. It is also stated that in the event of making this change the train will run between Wilkes-Barre and Sayre without a stop.

It is stated that when the new schedule goes into effect the express trains will make fewer stops, the plan being to run local trains ahead of the through trains to carry passengers on to points where the express trains will stop.

Butter Scoring.

The butter entered in the fifth educational butter contest for the year, conducted by the Pennsylvania State College, was scored on Sept. 6, by C. W. Fryhoffer, federal inspector of New York city. Ralph Martin of Font, Pa., made the highest, scoring 94, while three others were tied for second place with a score of 93. The following received a score of 90 or better: Ralph Martin, Font, Pa., 94; O. D. Mott, Edinburg, Pa., 93; W. H. McGranahan, Petersburg, Pa., 93; W. D. Marshall, Lyndell, Pa., 93; H. G. Hawthorne, Monroeton, Pa., 92½; Theodore Niering, Wapwallopen, Pa., 92½; Otis Blish, McCalls Ferry, Pa., 92½; L. H. Cooley, Castile, N. Y., 92½; H. W. Saxton, Kumry, Pa., 92; H. W. LeRaysville Boy Won Prize.

At the Syracuse State Fair held last week, Joseph D. Davis, son of Samuel Davis, of LeRaysville, was awarded the first prize on an essay submitted by him. The subject was "How to form the most profitable dairy herd on a farm of 120 acres with $500 to invest in stock." Mr. Davis is a graduate of Cornell University and has always been one of the closest students.—LeRaysville Times.

Poultry Activity.

Says the Canton Sentinel: "Canton poultry stock is growing in reputation and the shipments of thoroughbreds from this section increases with almost every week. Charles Newell, of the Locust Farm, last week sent ten hens and two cocks of his celebrated single comb white Leghorns to Porto Rico to fill an order received from a customer. The shipment was by express to New York, thence by boat to our southern insular possession."

Disposed of Draying Business.

Ira Snedeker, for years engaged in the draying business, has sold out to Robert Fenner, who has already taken possession. Mr. Fenner will carry on the business, and do general team work besides. Mr. Snedeker will devote his entire time to team work.

Jail Population Increased.

The county jail population was increased by ten yesterday, when five tramps were sent down from Sayre for 30 days each, and a like number were sent from Athens for the same length of time.

AUTOPSY AT WELLSBORO CONFIRMS A DIAGNOSIS.

Exhumation of Body Made Under Direction of Elmira Officials.

Dr. Westlake of Elmira, coroner of Chemung county, accompanied by three other physicians of that city, on Tuesday afternoon got permission from the Wellsboro cemetery authorities to exhume the body of Mrs. Edward Roby of Elmira, buried there on Sept. 4. On Aug. 24, last, there was a fire in the Olympic hotel at Elmira, caused by an explosion of some kind. The building was wrecked. Mrs. Edward Roby, who was sleeping in an adjoining house, was thrown out of bed and died soon afterwards. Dr. Westlake found that death was caused by the bursting of the right auricle of the heart. That the fire was of incendiary origin, was the general belief and Gilbert P. Devine of Elmira, a former proprietor of the hotel, is under arrest, charged with arson.

The autopsy at Wellsboro, confirmed Westlake's diagnosis in every particular.

Railroad Rumors.

Several railroad rumors are ripe at this time when the frost is on the pumpkin, of interest to people in this section. A trolley line from Elmira to Towanda via East Smithfield and Burlington, with a branch running into Troy is already in successful operation (on paper). Power for this trolley road to be furnished by the great power dam at Towanda. It is further rumored that the W. & N. B. will be absorbed by one of the big roads. Lastly but not leastly, the stock of the Lehigh Valley has been changing hands and appearances are that there will be a radical change in the ownership and management of the road. Whoever gets the old Lehigh, we sincerely hope that changes will be made in the local passenger schedules that will enable a man who wants to get somewhere tomorrow, to make it without starting day before yesterday.—New Albany Mirror.

Lehigh Changes.

T. J. Fitzgerald has been appointed claim agent for the Lehigh with headquarters at Sayre.

This new appointment is in line with the policy of the company in specializing on this line of work. Until within the last few months this work has been badly mixed up, but now each man will have his particular work to look after.

A. J. Adamson will have cases of personal injury. E. R. Eason and Paul Hayden have charge of claims for damage to freight arising from wrecks, while the new appointee will have charge of such claims as arise from shortages and damages other than caused by wrecks.

The detective force will have charge of general police work with the claim business eliminated except as they aid the other departments.

Rule Dismissed.

Judge Fanning Tuesday dismissed the rule in the case of Joseph Kaufman vs. the N. P. L. in which he asked for a judgment for $270 for the want of a sufficient affidavit of defence, even though the allegations made by William Maxwell, attorney for the N. P. L., were true. The court held that the defence was sufficient under the law of the state in which the contract was made, thus the dismissal of the rule. This means that the case will have to be decided in court by jury trial.

Bridge Closed.

The Wiggins bridge, across Mill Brook, near Billings' mill in Wyoming which was opened to the public a couple of months ago with great expectations, has been closed as unsafe for travel, to the general dissatisfaction of persons traveling that road. It is said, however, that the closing was not because of any defect in the bridge, but the unsafe condition of the approaches.

Baby Takes Bad Fall.

The two years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Sayre, was painfully injured Wednesday afternoon in a fall down stairs. Mrs. Smith and the child came to Towanda to attend the fair, and visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood on Bridge street. Yesterday afternoon the little boy fell down a flight of stairs, sustaining serious injuries about the head. Dr. Chaffee was called and relieved the little sufferer.

School Boy's Misfortune.

Fred Chilson, a thirteen years old boy of Powell, suffered a fracture of both wrists Wednesday afternoon. He was swinging on the school grounds when one of the ropes of the swing broke, throwing him to the ground. One bone protruded an inch through the flesh. Dr. Haines of Monroeton, dressed the lad's injuries.

Pheasant Came to School.

A fine wild pheasant, strayed from its usual haunts in the autumn woods, Wednesday flew against a window in the Third ward school building. The bird landed against the glass with force enough to shatter the glass and badly injure the bird.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LEHIGH VALLEY COMPANY.

Submitted to the Directors by President Thomas and Made Public.

The annual report of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. for the twelve months ending June 30 last, was made public after the meeting of the board of directors at Philadelphia on Wednesday.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Co., the stock of which is owned by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., issued its report of operations in separate form, which is taken as an indication that that company will make separate reports hereafer. The report shows that conditions in the anthracite industry in the last two years have been far from satisfactory. Mild weather, droughts that made the operation of the mines difficult and expensive, and uncertainty in the labor situation combined to lessen the demand for anthracite and to increase the cost of operation.

"The cost of producing coal," says the report, "is each year showing a serious increase, owing to the gradual exhaustion of the thicker and more cheaply mined veins near the surface, making it necessary to work thinner veins at greater depths and longer distances from the openings."

The report was chiefly remarkable for the vigorous protests voiced by president Thomas against the two-cent fare laws, and certain bookkeeping requirements enforced by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The recent activity in the company's stock lent added interest to the report.

No announcement was made regarding the recently reported coup of Edwin R. Hawley in obtaining control of the road. It was regarded as significant that president E. B. Thomas denied himself to all newspaper men, an unusual proceeding for him.

As in the case of other roads having a large anthracite traffic, the recent depression in general business condition is reflected in the report of this company. In the period covered by the report the gross operating revenues amounted to $33,137,832, a decrease of $2,372,322 from the preceding year. The decrease in expenses, though large, was not enough to offset this; the net operating revenue was $12,562,095, a decrease of $636,021.

Taxes amounted to $1,079,376, or 4.26 per cent. of the company's revenue, an increase of 1 per cent. showing that when business falls off, taxes at the prevailing high rates, which have not decreased during the year, absorb a considerably larger proportion of the company's revenues. After reducing taxes from net operating revenue there remained an operating income of $11,482,719. Other deductions—interest on funded debt, rentals etc.—left a net income of $5,261,160. Added to the surplus left at the end of the previous year, all dividends being deducted, this gave a surplus balance of $19,212 on July 1, 1909.

The revenue from merchandise freight and from passenger travel showed a similar falling off, the former decreasing 5.13 per cent., and the latter 6.13 per cent.

For maintenance of equipment the sum of $5,832,430 was spent, $321,144 less than was spent in the year ending June 30, 1908.

Justices Interested.

Local justices of the peace are interested in the proposed amendments to the constitution which will come up before the voters at the November election. The amendments provide for a change in the manner and time of holding the municipal elections and if they are carried it will extend the term of office of present justices for nearly a year. It also provides that thereafter justices shall be elected for six years instead of five years.

NEWS OF THE GRANGES

Conducted by A. T. LILLEY

Beech Flats Grange has a New England supper today and surely a fine program will be rendered.

A visit at New Albany Grange on the 25th ult. proved very pleasant. All were much interested with preparation of program for Pomona to be held at New Albany on Nov. 4 and 5. The esotesic work was exemplified for the benefit of all present. This Grange owns the building in which it meets and all seem to enjoy and profit by Grange priviliges.

The inspection of Open Hand Grange on the 21st ult. received the strict attention of the Master, E. M. Mason, and all members present. No other Grange in the Pomona district has so complete an outfit of paraphanalia, etc., for degree work. An average weekly attendance of 25 members speaks well for interest shown.

On the 28th Flora and Pomona's meeting was well attended and a good program carried out. A feast of fruits of the season, a superabundance of popcorn and a varied program won the good nature of all.

The inspection of Towanda Valley Grange at West Franklin on the 2d inst. happened on the occasion of a social held in the lower room hall building so the membership was divided, but a good number were on hand for the business of the occasion. With more than 100 members interested in the benefits of the Grange, all must be encouraged in the many reports of increase throughout the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boise of South Dakota, were present and spoke very well for Grange work in that new state.

Concerning Fairs.

The county agricultural fairs for 1909 were highly favored with fine weather; a very large attendance; a fair exhibition of Bradford county agricultural products; a reasonable presentation of dairy interests; a fine aggregation of fleet racing; a whole lot of artistic baseball; advertising galore of "everybody's best;" multiples of family reunions; mixed political interests unveiled; political temperance pledges being urged upon all voters; the lesson that when the farmer, not the merchant retailer, gets high prices for butter, the laborer, the manufacturer and publisher all "more goods" and labor; the presentable fact that the school children of the county are being taught many times as much as they were 50 years ago; the idea that the means and privileges of the ordinary farmer's wife far exceed those of two scores and ten years ago; that the common farm laborer and family have more of the comforts and pleasures of social life than in any other age; the idea that the farmer wishes to regain other rights that are for his best interests because when his best interests are really served all the world beside are sure to enjoy a large sharge of his heritage; and with the idea contained in the time honored saying that "whoever helps the farmer helps himself." Without soil for the farmer to till all labor is lost. In fact with no soil there can be no fuel (food). Then surely no product to maintain the existence of man. A fair remuneration for transferring a product from the producer to the consumer ought to be accepted by all transmitting or receiving.

Cost of Distribution.

The Stockman well says: The cost of putting commodities in the consumer's hands is where a great deal of the trouble lies and to this both sides should give attention. It is purely a business matter. The issue should not be obscured by prejudice or by sentiment against organizations of men or combinations of capital which have the object or effect of reducing the cost of distribution. Producers have made some effort to get some of this waste in distribution for themselves. Consumers should do likewise. Direct selling and buying or selling and buying with fewer intermediaries, should prove helpful to both. Buying in less wasteful quantities will help the consumer. There is some disposition to criticise the farmer because he neglects opportunities to produce maximum yields, which he might sell profitably at a lower price. Of course some farmers come short of their opportunities; but with proper inducements farmers, like all other producers will naturally expend their productions. No other argument than the dollars will appeal to them in a business matter, and the same is true of the other side. Only when the dollars go out too fast for provisions do consumers take any interest in their side of the problem. It is to be hoped that the necessity of getting more on the part of the producers and the necessity of paying less on the part of the consumers will some day bring them closer together on a matter in which both are vitally concerned.

James H. Hill recently said: "We have almost reached a point where, owing to increased population without increased production per acre, our home food supply will be insufficient for our needs. Within ten years, possibly less, we are likely to become a wheat importing nation. The percentage of the population enjoyed in agriculture and the wheat product per acre are both falling." With such things ahead of him waste of soil resources is a fatal business error; and with the needs of coming generations in view it is almost a crime against humanity.

At the recent session of the American Bankers' association at Chicago not a voice was raised in favor of Postal Savings Banks. This is not strange yet it should be an incentive for the people to do their best for the people of rural communities. President Taft is on the right side of this question, and congress ought to give this question a "square deal." There are 251 postal savings banks in the Phillipines. Philipino depositors, 4,591; and American, 3,375. Amount of deposits, $717,000.

Convenient Arrangement.

"What are you buying now?"

"I am looking for some present to give my wife on her birthday. I tell you, making presents costs a heap of money."

"Why don't you do as I do? I have never failed to make my wife a present on her birthday every year for twenty-five years, and I am not out a penny thus far."

"How do you manage it?"

"It is very simple. After we were married, when her birthday came round, I gave her a £5 note. When my birthday came round, she gave me the note back, and we have kept that up ever since, and neither of us is out a penny."—London Tit-Bits.

Like Calling For a Drink.

A hard drinker was told by his doctor that he could be cured if every time he felt that he must have a drink he would immediately take something to eat instead. The man followed the advice and was cured, but the habit of asking for food had become so fixed with him that once he was nearly locked up as a lunatic. He was stopping at a hotel, and, hearing a great commotion in the room next to his, he peeped over the transom to see what the matter was. He saw and rushed madly down to the office and shouted to the clerk: "The man in 153 has shot himself! Ham and egg sandwich, please!"

Wrong Frame of Mind.

"Caroline, aren't you ever going to join the church?"

"Of course I am, Aunt Rachel, some day. But you ought to know better than ask me to do it when I'm right in the midst of this drafted house cleaning."—Chicago Tribune.

Box and gondola cars are becoming scarce on the Reading railway and it is predicted that within a month it will be impossible to handle all the orders. Difficulty is being experienced now.

A news dispatch from Lancaster says: "Frederick Shaff is the owner of a 300-acre chestnupt grove and it will be freely thrown open on Saturday to the school children of the city and county."

In Berks county the magistrates are accused of returning too many cases to court. Of the 173 cases returned for the September court forty-nine were dismissed and forty-three were ignored by the grand jury.

So many people gathered in the Alvin theatre at Pittsburg to hear William D. McCracken speak on Christian Science that they not only filled the seats but also the aisles and foyer. The ushers were unable to cope with the throngs.

Henry Hiffmeyer, aged 68 years, a well known business man of York, was found dead in bed. His wife awoke and found that his feet were not covered. She was covering them and discovered how cold they were. An examination proved that the man's life was ended.

Henry Snyder, the York county youth who is sentenced to die on October 26, may yet be saved from the gallows through the fight of his attorneys and the much signed petitions that are being circulated. He killed two boy chums at Pleasureville several years ago.

William and Hannah Armstrong steerage passengers from Scotland to Philadelphia, were picked out of 500 emigrants by pieces of ribbon which they wore and which matched one given to the officers by a relative of theirs, Mrs. Jarbow, of Frankford, who had never seen them.

While holding a bronze covered ball in his hand, little August Kramer of Williamsport, had his hand shattered when the thing exploded. It is believed that the contrivance was an infernal machine. The youngster had picked it up on the street and was playing with the deadly instrument, when the explosion occurred.

Drs. C. J. Hemminger of Rockwood, Somerset county, and E. F. Hemminger of Meyersdale, performed a remarkable operation on Milton Critchfield of New Centerville. His intestines were cut by an axe. The doctors treated the wounds surgically and left them to take care of themselves. Critchfield, who is i n his 53d year, will recover.

Gaining entrance to the Shipley hardware store at Meyersdale, burglars obtained a valuable lot of booty. Bloodhounds were brought from Fairmont, W. Va., and after coursing over much territory came at three different times to one house. None of the goods however, were found in this place. The bloodhounds were taken back home.

Philadelphia's growing importance as a port of entry is shown by the report for the year ending September 25. The total value of the imports is $74,553,463 against $56,361,318 last year. This is an increase of over $18,000,000. Iron ore, wool and general merchandise made up the largest values.

Mrs. Annie Hardy will be in the Presbyterian hospital at Philadelphia for some time owing to the explosion of a chicken stew. The lid is supposed to have fitted the pot so tightly that steam could not escape and the whole thing suddenly blew up, scattering the soup all over the kitchen and severely burning the woman.

Drs. Sheets and Iseman, of Beaver Falls, are working a mine north of the town in quest of silver. Tradition says that the Indians found the metal in the place and used it to make bullets. The men say that as they go further in the metal grows better, although it is not yet of sufficient value to amount to much.

Clarence Ferguson and Gerwood Stewart entered the burning home of Frank Hunter, near Butler, after the floor had started to give way, and brought out a box in which there had been $2,000. Both were overcome by smoke but not seriously. The paper money in the box had burned and the gold had started to melt. The bills were worth $1,000.

Rosa Marks, a pretty Russian girl, rushed into the police station at Pittsburg and asked to be saved from Joseph Lehan, a Cherokee Indian, who had threatened to kill her, according to her story. She said that her father had sold her to the Indians for $1,000 and that she had been the slave of Lehan ever since. The members of the tribe are said to have left Pittsburg and to have declared that they will find the girl's father and get him to compel her to return to them.

HARRY GODCHARLES DROWNED IN NEVADA.

Former Towandian Meets Tragic Fate. Body Shipped to Milton.

Harry Godcharles, a former resident of Towanda, was drowned at Ely, Nevada, on Sunday last. No particulars could be learned yesterday, other than that he had been drowned and that the body had been shipped to Milton, Pa., the home of his mother, Mrs. W. H. Godcharles.

The unfortunate man was a son of the late W. H. Godcharles, at one time owner and superintendent of the nail and steel mill at South Towanda. He assisted his father in the management of the mill until it was destroyed by fire following an explosion. For some time he had been editor of "Copper Ore," a weekly newspaper published at McGill, Nevada, and devoted to the interest of Ely, a big mining camp.

He was about 36 years of age, and is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. H. Godcharles, two sisters, Mrs. W. S. Montgomery of Troy, and Miss Grace Godcharles at home, and two brothers, Edward and Ralph Godcharles, both located in New Mexico.

A RUSH OF BUSINESS.

It Came Just at the Time He Wanted to Sell His Place.

One of the leading men of Louisville, reported to be one of the richest, got a bad start in business. He began by being a photographer, but found that the business didn't come up to expectations. He therefore wisely decided to sell out and start at something else. He finally interested some people in the proposition and appointed a time when they should come and look things over.

He now has the reputation of being shrewd, and that this is not a complimentary designation only is indicated by what happened then. He inserted an advertisement in the daily papers in small enough type not to attract everybody's attention and yet conspicuously enough to win consideration from those who make a point of looking for bargains, announcing that on a certain day he would take pictures free of charge. By a coincidence the day he set was the day when the prospective purchasers of his business were to be there.

The ad., as usual, paid, and that afternoon his gallery was crowded with visitors. They thronged in and out, and he could not take care of them rapidly enough, even with the aid of several assistants. When the folks he intended to do business with came he greeted them with a crown of disappointment, explaining that he was simply so busy that he couldn't see them then and asked them to come back in the morning, when things would likely have slackened up. They agreed and went away duly impressed.

He sold out to them next day, and it is perhaps superfluous to add that he got more for his outfit than he would have done if it hadn't been for the modest little advertisement.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HOW INSECTS BREATHE.

System of Tubes That Run the Length of Their Bodies.

Landlubber animals have lungs, and sea creatures have gills. But insects have neither one nor the other. They have a complex system of tubes running throughout the whole length of the body by means of which air is conveyed to every part of the system. As they are destined to contain nothing but air, they are strongly supported to guard against collapse from pressure.

This support is furnished by means of a fine thread running spirally within the walls of the tube, much in the same way that a garden hose is protected with wire. There are generally two of these tubes which run the whole length of the insect's body.

Many flies, as larvae, live in the water. Arranged along each side of their bodies is a series of exceedingly thin plates, into each of which runs a series of blood vessels. These plates act and absorb the oxygen contained in the water. The tail ends in three feather-like protections. By means of these the larva causes currents of water to flow over the gills, and thus their efficiency is increased.

The gnat also lives in the water as a larva. But it has no gills; therefore it cannot breathe the oxygen in the water, but must breathe air. This is done by means of a spicade situated at the tip of its tail. Indeed, the tail is prolonged into a little tube. The larva floats along head downward in the water with this tube just above the surface to enable it to breathe. After some time it is provided with two little tubes, which act in the same manner.—Chicago Tribune.

Music Hath Charms.

"So you are fond of music?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum; "I have the highest regard for it. When you go home and meet a crowd of constituents there is nothing like a brass band to take their minds off the explanations they have been looking for."—Washington Star.

An Instance.

Knicker—Time brings many strange changes. Bocker—Yes; the boy whose mother can't make him wash his neck grows up to be a rich man who goes abroad for baths.—Harper's Bazar.

It's folly to try deaf mutes as servants; they won't answer.

A Hurry Up Medicine.

Every housekeeper recognizes the need of effective remedies to be used in emergencies —when something must be done right away. Such a remedy is Perry Davis' Painkiller, for sprains and bruises, for strained muscles and for the aches and pains resulting from blows and falls. Burns and cuts are instantly relieved by it and helped to healing. Its mission of mercy began seventy years ago. It is used in all countries and millions of bottles are sold annually. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Have you seen the new large 35c size?

DEFECT IN COMMITTMENTS GIVES FIVE THEIR FREEDOM.

Judge Fanning Tuesday Ordered Release of Youths From Jail.

A defect in the committments has given five youths their freedom from the county jail to which place they were sentenced last week by Justice Carey of Sayre. The ones thus liberated are: Albert Errickson, Rudolph Frankforter, Oscar Breuninger, John Hawath, and Joseph Vargo.

They were arrested in Sayre the other day on the charge of vagrancy were sentenced to the county jail by Justice Carey. Attorneys David E. Kaufman and Lilley & Wilson were retained to look into the matter, and they took the case before Judge Fanning, who ordered the release of the prisoners Tuesday.

The courts holds that the committments on which the youths were placed in jail were not legal inasmuch as they did not contain the clause "compulsory labor," and for that reason they were given their freedom.

During the proceedings before Judge Fanning it developed that the young men were not arrested nor charged with vagrancy but as illegal trainriders, and at the best could only charge and sentenced as such, although they were in jail for vagrancy.

Two Successful Operations.

Says the Sayre correspondent of the Waverly Free Press: "Mrs. Thomas Sawyer of Dushore, submitted to an operation for closed tear ducks, both eyes, by Dr. Tuttle Monday morning. Frank Vanduzer of Ulster, underwent an operation for deafness caused by tumors in the throat, at the office of Dr. Tuttle, Saturday. Mr. Vanduzer had been gradually been growing deaf for some time and was recently refused admission to the United Army on account of this defect. On Thursday he was brought to Dr. Tuttle the throat specialist who found a large mass of adenoid tumors which closed the openings of the air tubes which lead from the throat to the ears, and advised immediate operation. The operation was performed by Dr. Tuttle, assisted by Dr. Hunter, and was very successful and will result in a total restoration of the young man's hearing."

WATCH THE LIPS.

Their Sensitive Muscles Make Them Great Telltales.

"It's a queer thing," remarked the professor, "how people can control their eyes and not their mouths."

The inventor with whom he happened to be talking made the comment that the professor probably meant tongues when speaking of mouths.

"No, I didn't mean tongues. I meant mouths," the professor rejoined. "I mean, if you want to be scientifically accurate, the action of the lip muscles. There's nearly always, in a moment of excitement, of exaltation, depression or emergency, a telltale movement on their part which can't be guarded against. Why can't it be guarded against? Because it is so largely unconscious. Most of us from our youth up have been trained to use our eyes and to use them in such a way as to conceal our emotions. It's different with the mouth. Perhaps we haven't advanced far enough to do two such important things at the same time. Anyway the fact remains that we don't do it.

"If, for example, I have reason to believe that a man is not telling me the truth I don't give my attention to his eyes. He may look at me as fearlessly as he wants. What I watch for is something significant in the region of his face below the nose. If there is no change in the expression of his lips I am disposed after all to believe him. But if there is the least trembling or twitching, the least exhibition, let us call it, of nervousness—well, then, I have my doubts."

"I suppose," observed the inventor, "that while that fact does not explain the wearing of the mustache it shows that the mustache has uses."

"It does," returned the professor, "but you must remember that the mustache, as a rule, doesn't obscure the lower lip. And the lower lip, if you'll take the trouble to notice, is if anything more revelatory than the upper one. It is usually that lip which gives the expression to the mouth. The upper lip follows suit, as it were."

"Well, well," said the inventor, fingering his mustache.—New York Press.

Unlucky Suggestion.

An old vicar had a groom who had been detected stealing his master's oats. The vicar had not decided what course to take, and meantime the groom had gone to the curate to ask him to plead for him, and the sympathetic young fellow hastened to the rectory to appeal to the vicar. The old vicar heard his curate out, but looked obdurate, so as a last resource the curate quoted Scripture as a plea for leniency and said we were taught when a man took our coat to let him take the cloak as well.

"That's true," said the vicar dryly, "and as the fellow has taken my oats I am going to give him the sack."—London Answers.

THIS MAN HAS A FONDNESS FOR SHAVING TOOLS.

Itinerant Burglar Still Plies Trade in Bradford County.

The itinerant burglar who stole a violin and a couple of razors from the home of S. M. Drake near Ghent, Saturday afternoon and is supposed to be the man who secured a watch and several articles of jewelry from a Rome citizen recently, entered the house of John Drugan, near Wiliwana, Monday morning while the family was away, and stole two more razors and a few trinkets.

After leaving the Drugan home he was overtaken by an Athens man who invited him to ride in his automobile, an invitation which the stranger gladly accepted saying that he was going to Wellsburg. When Wellsburg was reached however, he changed his mind and rode on to Elmira, where he disappeared in the heart of the city, still carrying the stolen violin. He is described as being about fifty years old, with a heavy dark mustache slightly tinged with gray. He wore a dark suit of clothes and a Fedora hat.—Athens News.

EXHILARATING SPORT.

Dog Driving Over the Ice and Snow of Labrador.

Winter driving with a team of a dozen dogs is declared by Dr. Grenfell of Labrador to be the most fascinating sport ever enjoyed by man. His description of it as quoted by James Johnstone in his book, "Grenfell of Labrador," is as follows:

Although there is no harder work when driving over a rough country, yet the bracing cold, the exhilarating brightness of the reflected light from the snow, the difficulty of getting badly hurt, however sharply one shoots a mountain side or even tumbles over a cliff, the absence of damp or moisture, the fact that one can travel anywhere in soft, light moccasins and in such clothing as is most conducive to agility, without any reference to conventionality, all help to vanquish any realization of labor on a long trip.

There is infinite scope for skill in choosing, tending and training your dogs, also for both pluck and physical strength in driving, and all the craft of the woodsman is called for in crossing miles of virgin country, where at any time any wrong turn will surely mean a night in the open and perhaps a temperature of 40 degrees of frost.

Dog driving also teaches one what boxing is said to teach, self control, for of all the trials of temper one can be called on to endure the worst is, given a glorious day for traveling and when one is in a hurry, to have one's dogs run wild, listening to nothing, not watching anything, but tangling with every stump and tree and biting at everything that comes in the way.

As one man told me when I asked him what kind of a team he had: "I's had to give 'em up, sir, though I loved they well enough. Good dogs be that wild it is too hard for to be a-handlin' of 'em and be a Christian, too, sir."

Bulls in the Graveyard.

The kirkyard was full, and a brand new cemetery was laid out. Sandy McTavish, looking over it with Andrew Bruce, protested that it was "too continental" in style. "I'd rather dee than be buried in sic a spot," he declared.

Andrew was less difficult to please. "Weel, it's the verra reverse wi' me," he said, "for I'll be buried naewhere else if I'm spared."—Glasgow Times.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

No Sentiments of the Editor or Publishers are Here Expressed.

Mr. Editor:

I see quite a little talk advising farmers to raise more wheat, and be independant of the west. That would be all right providing they could make any bread to eat out of it. There is a good crop of wheat in Bradford county this year, but it will be used mostly for chicken feed. The farmers go to the mill and trade it off for Spring wheat flour, and want flour made away west, any near mills make will not do. Making bread from winter flour is a lost art since "Mother died." Then why not raise spring wheat? Fit up a few acres in No. 1 shape this fall and have it ready for early sowing.

Any of your home mills make just as good flour, give them the same wheat, as can be made in the far west, and by so doing, stop paying tribute to the Railroad Company in the way of freight, and stop sending all your money away from home. It is worth a trial. It is not new it has been done this year and other years. Try it farmers.

Dinner at Saco.

The Ladies' Aid at Saco will serve dinner at the Grange Hall on Thursday, Oct. 7.

How to Serve
Foods Shot from Guns

Serve them with cream, like other cereals. Or serve them with fruit.

Serve them, like crackers, in a bowl of milk. Or serve them as they are in the package.

However you serve them, you'll find them the most enticing foods that you know.

Think of whole wheat or rice kernels puffed to eight times natural size. Made four times as porous as bread.

Unbroken kernels, crisp and nutlike, ready to melt in the mouth.

Digestible kernels, with every starch granule literally blasted to pieces.

Do you wonder that such foods have jumped into such popularity?

Can you wonder that seventeen million dishes were consumed by people last month?

See if your folks like them.

Puffed Wheat—10c
Puffed Rice—15c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

EXPLODING LANTERN CAUSES BIG BLAZE.

Barn Burned on the Leslie C. Dimon Place in Rome Township.

An exploding lantern caused a bad fire in Rome township about 7 o'clock Friday night, the barn on the Leslie C. Dimon place being totally destroyed, together with a large amount of hay, grain, etc. The stock and wagons were saved.

Mr. Dimon is a rural mail carrier out of the Rome postoffice, and was out on his trip when the fire started. Two of his sons had been at the barn, doing the chores, and expecting their father any minute, left a lighted lantern in the barn for him.

A short time later the lantern exploded, and it was but a moment until the building was a mass of flames. By hard work many things were saved from the blaze. The heat was so intense for a time it was feared the house could not be saved, but heroic work on the part of the neighbors prevented it's destruction.

Mr. Dimon in returning home arrived in Rome borough about the time the fire started, and the Rome hose cart was attached to his mail wagon and rushed to the scene.

The blaze illuminated the sky to such an extent that it was noticeable in Towanda.

HUNTERS LOOKING FORWARD

All Signs Point to an Abundance of Game and Sport.

Crisp mornings are suggestive of autumn, woodlands and fields, and he who loves to wander there with gun and dog is already beginning to hear the call of the woods, and with pleasant anticipations is training his four-footed ally and fondly taking his gun from its case to see that it is in good condition to stop the whirring grouse, whistling woodcock, the leaping squirrel, or bounding rabbit.

Game is reported as fairly plentiful throughout this section of the state, especially squirrels and rabbits, and hunters expect to have some good sport. More woodcock have been seen in the wooded swamps in this part of the country this Summer than for many years past and rabbits abound everywhere, frequently being observed along the country roads. About the only kind of game that is very scarce is the quail, which was almost exterminated by the severe Winters some years ago, and are increasing very slowly. The dogs and farmers' cats, to which these birds are easy prey, are also largely responsible for the passing of the quail.

Many large flocks of wild turkeys are known to inhabit various parts of the country. Pheasants, which were scarce last year, seem to be plentier this season, and reports come from some places that this splendid game bird has materially increased, which will be good news to the sportsman who loves to tramp the woods to send the hustling shot after the swift-winged grouse.

The nut crop will not be large this Fall, owing to the dry weather, but there will no doubt be enough to feed the squirrels and thus prevent them from migrating before Winter sets in.

Speed Laws.

Local laws limiting the speed of automobiles to less than twenty-four miles an hour, it is said by different exchanges are contrary to Legislative enactment and of no effect. When in letters five inches high the words "Danger, Go Slow," appear the driver must slow down to twelve miles an hour. When the driver of a horse indicates that the animal is afraid of the automobile, the driver must stop, and must make no unnecessary noise, stopping his machine if necessary. In case of accident, the owner of a motor vehicle must give his name and address and that of the owner of the car if requested.

Unique Way of Booming a State.

The State of Texas, owing to the large quantity of rice raised there, has established a new holiday, Thursday, September 30, which is known as "Texas Rice Day." The Lehigh Valley Railroad served on that day in all of its dining cars, some dish made up from rice. This dish appeared on the menu card in red ink under the words "Texas Rice Day," and was served without charge to patrons of the dining cars, such patrons receiving at the same time, a neat circular and souvenir post cards illustrating the growing of rice in the "Lone Star State."

Grange Lecturers.

Prof. F. W. Card of Sylvania, and E. B. Dorsett of Mansfield, will be Pennsylvania Farmers' Institute lecturers this Winter in the fourth section, which includes Bradford, Tioga and twelve other Northern-Tier counties. Among the large number of others to take part as State lecturers are: Dr. Carl W. Gay of the University of Pennsylvania; Prof. Wells W. Cooke of Washington, D. C.; Profs. Van-Norman, Noll, Doty and Larson, and Miss Sarah C. Lovejoy of State College.

Athens Fair Helped.

Contrary to predictions, the Inter-State fair at Athens helped the Towanda fair. The splendid attractions at the Athens fair, the big crowds, and genuine enjoyment seemed to give the people of this section the "fair fever," with the result that the largest crowd ever on the East Towanda fair grounds attended the Bradford County Agricultural society's exhibition Thursday.

MOORE REFUSES TO PAY JUSTICE NELSON'S COSTS.

Sayre Magistrate Will Be Paid, Say the County Commissioners.

Frank N. Moore, treasurer of Bradford county has informed the county commissioners that he will no longer pay any costs to Justice Nelson of Sayre. So announced L. H. Marsh one of the county commissioners while in Sayre Saturday evening.

The county commissioners say that Justice Nelson was elected by the vote of the people of Sayre. He is leaglly a justice and cannot be deprived from the emoluments of the office. When he transacts any business in accordance with the law he is entitled to his fees and the county commissioners say he will be paid in spite of what Mr. Moore may say. The commissioners say that Mr. Moore is simply custodian of the county funds and he has no right to object to the payment of any legal bills against the county. The commissioners claim they have a right to draw on the county funds to pay Justice Nelson for the service he has performed, that he is entitled to his fees, and when they draw an order on Mr. Moore he must pay it. The commissioners say that if they as well as Mr. Moore should refuse to pay Justice Nelson, that Sayre officials can sue and collect and the commissioners think it is better to pay without any legal mix-up in which the county would not only have to pay Justice Nelson's costs but also the costs of the suit he would bring to recover what was due him.

The commissioners think that Mr. Moore has raised the question of paying Justice Nelson because he does not think that the county jail is a scrubbing place for tramps. A short time ago a dirty tramp was before Justice Nelson and in imposing sentence the justice simply said 'I'll give you forty days in which to get scrubbed up."—Sayre Times-Record.

Escaped From Hospital.

A few nights ago a young woman, who had been admitted to the Packer hospital a short time before, and whose condition was and still is serious, eluded the vigilance of the nurses and made her escape. She was clad only in a kimona when she made her hurried exit into the night breezes. Her condition is such that it is not safe for her to be abroad and the police of Sayre and Athens have been notified to keep watch for her, and if she is found out after reasonable hours she will be taken into custody.

Plucky Policeman.

Paul Gates, a Wilkes-Barre patrolman, had a thrilling experience Friday night, when he came upon four men who had just held up and robbed a man, and captured three of them single handed. The quartette had badly beaten their victim, who claimed that he had been robbed of $7 by them. The arrested men gave their names as James Campbell, Thomas Dugan and Michael Doyle, all young men.

Repairs to Be Made.

Commissioners Bird and Marsh were in town Monday with a view to some improvements which are much needed at the court house, like rekalsomining the interior walls, which in many places are discolored, dirty and covered with lead pencil scrawls quite out of keeping with the dignity of the county and the fine condition of the Towanda court house.—Troy Gazette.

Nearly All of Foot Gone.

Says the Troy Gazette Register: "J. T. McCollom, Esq., submitted to the removal of nearly all of the remainder of his left foot Monday by Drs. Parsons of Canton, and Carrier of Troy. He stood the operation as well as could be expected in his somewhat run down condition. While Mr. McCollom's condition is recognized as serious, hope is entertained of his ultimate recovery."

Serious Injury.

William Cashdollar of Homet's Ferry, aged eighteen years, is in the Packer hospital suffering a severe injury to his left leg. He was helping fill a silo when he got his left knee into the ensilage cutter. A piece of flesh and bone as large as a man's hand was cut off, below the joint and the knee joint was displaced backward. The bone was wired back, but the joint will be permanently stiff.

Potter County Trout Stream

The Board of Fish Commissioners, which some weeks ago met in Ansonia and heard evidence relative to establishing a line for Pine Creek, as a trout stream, has rendered decision, fixing the Galeton dam as such line. That is, Pine Creek is declared a trout stream from its source to the Galeton dam and below that point is an open stream.

"Ora Mapes" Out of Danger.

"Ora Mapes," the fast racing mare, who was taken ill with colic during the races at the fair on Friday, and has been under treatment by Dr. Marshall, the Towanda veterinary, is now out of danger, and will fully recover. "Ora Mapes" is owned by William Weatherby of Lewisburg, and is considered one of the best horses to ever start in a race on the East Towanda track.

Joins Constabulary.

Charles E. Stevens of East Towanda, has successfully passed the civil service examination and has been given a place in the ranks of the state Constabulary, and is now with the troopers near Pittsburg.

KNAPP BROTHERS UNDER INDICTMENT.

Another Chapter Added Bank Failure Which Stirred Southern New York

The Broome County grand jury at Binghamton returned three indictments in connection with the recent Knapp bank failures, one against Charles P. Knapp of Deposit, and two against Charles P. Knapp and Charles J. Knapp of Binghamton, jointly.

All of the indictments charge criminally receiving deposits in an institution known to be insolvent.

The indictments follow a series of failures last April, when the Deposit and Callicoon branches of Knapp Brothers, private bankers, closed their doors. The Outing Publishing company of Deposit, went into the hands of a receiver, and the Binghamton Trust company was placed in the hands o fthe State Banking Department.

Charles H. Knapp, whose name appears on all three indictments, was in charge of the Deposit branch of Knapp Brothers, was president of the Outing Publishing company and owner of Knapp's millionaire band. Charles J. Knapp of Binghamton, was identified with the firm of Knapp Brothers and was president of the Binghamton Trust company. He is an uncle of Charles P. Knapp.

All indictments relate to transactions by the firm of Knapp Brothers in Deposit, and have no bearing upon the Outing Publishing company and Binghamton Trust company matters.

Dr. Stevens at Philadelphia.

Dr. Cyrus Lee Stevens of Athens, was in Philadelphia last week in attendance at the state medical association, and was one of the prominent members whose portraits were published in the Quaker City papers. He is secretary of the society and editor of the Pennsylvania Medical Magazine, the established organ of the association. The benzoate of soda act, passed by the last legislature, came in for a strong resolution of condemnation, as did the practice of making the appropriations for the hospitals of the state contingent upon the favor of political passes.

Divorce Doings.

A divorce was granted yesterday to Esther Webb Munn from her husband, Winsol Munn. The parties lived in Athens at the time of their marriage After a month of married life, the husband, according to the evidence introduced before the master and examiner, strayed from the narrow path of virtue and associated with lewd women. While a bride of only two months, Mrs. Munn left the husband, and they have since lived apart. A subpoena in divorce has been awarded in the case of William E. Cooper vs. Eliza Jane Cooper.

Yardmaster Promoted.

F. M. Barker, the Lehigh yardmaster at Sayre has been promoted to inspector of transportation, effective Oct. 1. He succeeds J. N. Haines in office. Mr. Haines was recently appointed trainmaster of the Auburn division of the Lehigh. Mr. Barker was formerly Lehigh freight agent at Rochester and succeeded E. E. Jordan in Sayre a few months ago when Mr. Jordan was promoted to trainmaster at Packerton. No announcement has as yet been make as to Mr. Barker's successor.—Sayre Times-Record.

Robbery at Ghent.

While S. M. Drake andhis son-in-law, Arthur Vargason, who live near Ghent with their families were away from home Saturday afternoon, a burglar entered the house and stole a violin a case for the same and two razors. He was traced by neighbors who saw him coming away from the house for several miles towards Athens. While there is no clue as to his identity he is believed to be the same man who robbed the Eiklor home in that vicinity a few weeks ago.

Towanda Shoppers.

A few of the many shoppers in town on Saturday were: Mrs. Susan Ennis and daughter, Mrs. Harry Norton of Liberty Corners; Mrs. Henry Fisher of Standing Stone; Robert Satterlee of Monroeton; Miss Francis Jennings and sister, Mrs. A. L. Stevens of Macedonia; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wickeizer of Macedonia.

Recovered From Tetanus.

After lying for several weks at the point of death from tetanus, Louis Kolb, son of Dr. Albert Kolb of Scranton, has recovered. The case is a remarkable one as it was believed for a time that his recovery was impossible. The boy stubbed his toe at Lake Lincoln about six weeks ago and blood poison set in.

SAYRE BOY WHO LIED SENT TO REFORMATORY.

Leo White Will Sojourin at Huntingdon Until He is Wiser.

Leo White, the Sayre boy who lied in court during the criminal sessions of the September term, will or should know better next time. At any rate he will have sufficient time to ponder over the matter while sojourning in the State reformatory at Hundingdon, to which place he was sentenced Monday by Judge Fanning.

White is the Sayre boy who became intoxicated, and when questioned by his mother as to where he procured the liquor, stated that two young men, giving their names, had furnished him with the booze. Grief stricken, and anxious to punish the men who caused the downfall of her son, Mrs. White commenced prosecution, and on the evidence of her son, the two men were indicted by the last grand jury.

When the case was called for trial in criminal court, Leo White was to be the star witness for the Commonwealth, but when he went upon the witness stand he swore that he found one bottle of liquor and stole the other. This cleared the two defendants, but it put Leo in a bad light with the court, and District Attorney Mitchell at once asked the court to sit as a committing magistrate, and he preferred a charge of perjury against the witness. It was not a hard task to prove the charge, and now young White has been sent to the reformatory for changing his story.

Good Scheme.

The Baptist and Methodist Sunday schools of Waverly have adopted a system to secure better attendance at the Sabbath schools. Each member of the school will be given at the beginning of the school year a celluloid pin suitably inscribed. If the scholar attends Sunday school regularly for two months the celluloid pin will be exchanged for one of bronze, after two months more of perfect attendance for one of silver plate and so on for each two months' perfect attendance the scholar will receive a more valuable pin, starting with the celluloid, then bronze, silver plate, solid silver, gold plate, rolled gold, gold and enamel and last a solid gold one will be given which the scholar may keep.

Waverly Business Change.

Says the Waverly Free Press: "C. E. Beardsley, of Waverly, and Lloyd J. Rockwell of Towanda have bought the confectionery and ice cream business of Louis A. Mesereau and took possession of the store on Oct. 1. The new firm will be known as Beardsley & Rockwell. Mr. Beardsley was formerly a member of the firm of Whitley & Beardsley, but sold out his interest in the business a few months ago. Mr. Rockwell has been living at Towanda for some time but formerly lived here and employed at W. E. Turneys confectionery store as a candy maker."

Twenty Bushels, Thirty Years.

At Bloomsburg on Thursday Judge Evans sentenced Ward Ketcham, a resident of that place, to thirty years in the penitentiary for stealing twenty bushels of wheat. Ketcham was dazed and fell backward into his chair when he heard the sentence pronounced, which probably sends him to prison for the remainder of his life. The sentence was reluctantly imposed by Judge Evans, who announced that he could not exercise his discretion in the matter, as the Act of Assembly passed May 10, 1909, exactly fitted the case.

Grow Home Burned.

Fire destroyed the homestead of the late Galusha A. Grow, at Glenwood, Susquehanna county, early Sunday morning. On account of its location, there was no stopping of the flames after they were discovered. The Grow mansion had been a landmark in Susquehanna county, and many prominent people visited the place where "The Sage of Glenwood" spent his declining years. It was his only possession when he died, unfortunate investments having reduced him to comparative poverty.

LEHIGH VALLEY NOTES.

Leaky and Dirty Freight Care Are to Be Reported by Conductors.

Lehigh Valley conductors are to report to the division superintendent and to the superintendent of transportation when they find dirty cars or leaky car roofs. This is in order to prevent damage to freight.

That business condition on the Lehigh have materially improved within the last few days is shown by the fact that nineteen enginemen who had been demoted during the dull days, have resumed their places at the throttle.

W. B. Dempsey, who has charge of the flower gardens along the Lehigh Valley, is getting his greenhouses at Sayre in readiness for the winter. He is planting thousands of cuttings.

John Kupca of Phillipsburg, a Lehigh Valley section foreman, was struck by a freight locomotive near Freemansburg. He is suffering from concussion of the brain and shock, and his condition is serious.

The eastbound afternoon express trains on the Lehigh Valley, heretofore stopping at Falls station, will no longer stop at that station for passengers.

Lheigh officials have issued orders that when employes find more freight in cars than the bills of lading call for or when shortages or damaged freight is found report is to be made to the superintendent of transportation.

Cows Have Tuberculosis.

A veterinarian visited the Elsbree farm near Tozer's bridge on Friday and inspected the herd of fine Holstein cattle, with the result that six of the herd were found to be afflicted with tuberculosis. The condemned cattle were turned over to John Dunlap and he drove them to his fertilizing plant in East Athens. The condemned cattle were apparently fine appearing stock and a novice would not discover anything wrong with them. The cattle belong to Fred Tozer, the well known farmer, and about a year ago the state veterinarian visited his farm with the result that several head were found to be suffering from tuberculosis. These were also ordered killed and their carsasses turned into fertilizer.—Waverly Free Press.

Mayor Lew in the course of his announcement of coming changes, says that he has been betrayed by his friends and that charges of a more or less serious nature have been preferred against fully one-third of the patrolmen under him. Hereafter there will be regular semi-monthly drill and inspection of the force and clothes must be in good condition and all brasses polished.

Both Are Recovering.

Frank Barnes of Rome borough, who was kicked in the back by a horse at the fair on Thursday, is slowly recovering. He was terribly injured, and is still paralyzed from the hips down. Fred Cannan, also of Rome borough, who was badly injured by being thrown from a bicycle while riding to the Dimon fire Friday night, is improving slowly. He was thrown on his head and was badly injured, one eye being bruised in a terrible manner. He suffered with concussion of the brain, and was in convulsions for some time.

FRED CHILSON OF POWELL, SUBMITS TO AMPUTATION.

Right Arm Removed at Packer Hospital Sunday Afternoon.

Gangrene made it necessary to amputate the right arm of Fred Chilson, a 14 years old boy of Powell at the Robert Packer hospital Sunday afternoon.

On Wednesday of last week he was swinging. He was moving through a large arc when he lost his hold on the ropes and fell, striking on his hands and knees. The force of the impact broke both his arms between the wrists and elbows. The fracture to the right forearm was much more severe than to the left.

The bones of the right arm received what are known to physicians as a compound, comminuted fractures, that is the bones were broken in several places and the jagged ends projected through the flesh. Such fractures are dangerous for the reason that the ends of the bones may become infected at the time of the accident. It is essential that every possible care be used in sterlizing the ends of the bone before an attempt is made to reduce the fractures. Saturday afternoon gangrene developed in the boy's right arm and Sunday he was taken here and taken to the Robert Packer hospital where the arm was amputated midway between the elbow and shoulder in the hopes of saving his life.

At the Central New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal pastors and lay workers, in session in Ithaca, one of the principal items of convervation is in the appointment of a district superintendent for the Syracuse district, to succeed the Rev. D. D. Campbell, whose term of office has expired. The Ithaca Journal says:

"Perhaps the one who is most prominently named is the Rev. E. M. Mills, pastor of the First church of Towanda, Pa., and former pastor of the State Street Methodist Episcopal church, Ithaca. Dr. Mills has been prominent in conference affairs, being at one time presiding elder of the Elmira district. As secretary of the Freedman's Aid he has traveled extensively, and this will no doubt be to his advantage. The Rev. Mr. Mills is about sixty years old and is very well known.

"Another name which has been put forward by friends and is talked of at the conference is the name of the Rev. F. D. Keeney, pastor of the First Church of Syracuse. Dr. Keeney is said to be a very able man, with a keen insight of the needs of the office of district superintendent.

"There are many who link the name of the Rev. Wallace E. Brown, pastor of the First Church of Ithaca, with the appointment."

The next session of the Central New York Conference will go to Lyons without any doubt. This location seems to be already agreed upon by the ministers in attendance, although it must be officially voted upon.

The district superintendents gave in their reports Friday of the work accomplished in each of the five districts of the conference.

In his report District Superintendent S. F. Sanford of Elmira district said:

"There should be more young men in this work. The younger men are not coming to the fore as much as is desired. There are 23 preachers out of a total of 45 in the Elmira district who receive the same pay as a common street sweeper. The day has come when the matter ought to be laid on the heart of the church. The men in the service of the church must be better taken care of and supported."

Mr. Sanford spoke ofthe value of the quarterly conferences and scored the ministers who remain away from them.

The Union Veterans' Association, composed of ministerial members of the conference who served in the Civil War, held a reunion last night. Bishop Hamilton gave an address.

The anniversary of the Women's Home Missionary Society was held Friday afternoon. Mrs. C. W. M. Brown of Elmira is the conference president of the association. The Rev. W. E. Doughty of New York is to deliver the address.

Among the interesting figures at the conference are the Rev. B. I. Ives of Auburn, who is the oldest member of the Conference having joined the Conference in 1845. The second oldest member of the Conference, the Rev. John B. Foot of Syracuse, is also present. Mr. Foote is eighty-five years old, and joined the Conference in 1851.

The sessions Saturday were devoted largely to business in order to clear affairs for the closing sessions Monday. No business was done Sunday.

An average of over $50,000 in cash is handled by the Conference treasurer at each session, being in collections from each church in the conference and other department monies.

The Conference love feast opened Sunday at 9 o'clock. Bishop Hamilton preached and ordained a class for elders orders at 10:30 o'clock. A service and ordination of deacons at 3 p. m. and an anniversary service at 7:30 p. m. featured yesterday's session.

Very Controversial.

They were very controversial in those days.

First.—Bowles wrote a book about Pope.

Second.—Campbell abused Bowles' book on Pope.

Third.—Bowles replied to Campbell's abuse of Bowles on Pope.

Fourth.—Byron wrote an answer to Bowles' answer to Campbell's abuse of Bowles' book on Pope.

Fifth.—John Bull wrote a letter to Byron about Byron's answer to Bowles' answer to Campbell's abuse of Bowles' book on Pope.

Sixth.—Dr. Garnet has a theory of the authorship of John Bull's letter to Byron about Byron's comments on Bowles' answer to—it is like "The House That Jack Built!"—Andrew Lang.

Bare Poles.

Purser—Don't go on deck, madam. It is stormy, and we are running her with bare poles.

Aunt Polly—Well, I suppose that, coming from such a cold country as Poland, they can stand running round naked, but I think it's downright scandalous to let 'em.—London Telegraph.

Otherwise Sane.

Examining Physician—Have there ever been any indications of insanity in your family? Applicant For Life Insurance (with visible reluctance)—Yes, sir; one. My father was the victim of a hallucination that I was born to be a great musician.—Chicago Tribune.

ATTEND THE COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Help Revive the Spirit of Attending Sabbath School Every Sunday.

In these strenuous days of work and close competition in the business world, we are very apt to relegate to the background some of the really important acts of our religious world. Not least in importance is the habit of attending Sunday school. How easy for the tired father and mother, when Sunday comes, to say to the child "go", rather than "come"!

Is it any wonder that the faithful officers and teachers, find it difficult to keep the children interested in the Sunday school without the active cooperation of the parents? How can parents best co-operate? The answer is simple. By their presence in the Sunday school, with minds eager to learn more of the Word of God.

In reply to the question" What is the cause of the prevailing lack of interest in Sunday school work " a dear old lady recently gave this answer. "In my day, when Sunday came, the whole family were as desirous of going to Sunday school, as the great majority now are to see a ball game." And because the men and women of today are allowing so many secular influences to creep in ahead of religious influences, the boys and girls of our land, are drifting away, too much after the things that pretain to this life only, and one result is, empty seats in the Sunday school room.

Everyone now interested in the Sunday school should endeavor to interest others, to attend the County Sunday School Convention held October 19, and 20, in the M. E. church at Towanda. A very helpful program has been prepared, to which all are cordially invited.

PASSENGER ELEVATORS.

Their Invention Made the Modern Skyscraper Possible.

It is certain that the earliest and the most indispensable of the factors which have enabled the construction of the mighty skyscrapers of today was the passenger elevator and that this was brought into use during the sixties of the last century, its first appearance in New York being in the Fifth Avenue hotel. It was at about the same time introduced into the Astor House, then already a generation old. So obvious was the utility of this device that the wonder again is that it had not been brought into practice long before. Hoists are, of course, as old as the Dutch warehouses, of which the picturesqueness is enhanced by the projecting cranes that worked the hoists, doubtless as old as Archimedes. But hotels, even when the Fifth Avenue was built, were conditioned in altitude, as were all other buildings not exclusively monumental, by the powers of ascension of the unassisted human leg. Five stories was the maximum for commercial buildings, except that an attical sixth might be added for the discommodation of the janitor, whose name was Hobson and who had to go where he was sent, which, naturally, was where no "paying guest" could be induced to go. He and his may have taken their outlook on life from slits or bullseyes just under the roof. In the cases of hotels the sixth story was assigned to servants and storerooms. Tenants or inmates could not be induced to climb more than four flights of stairs and grumbled grievously in the case of inmates of hotels and accused the hotel clerk of perfidy when they had to climb so many. A device which would make all the floors, even of a five story hotel, equally accessible, and so equally desirable, was a device very sure of immediate adoption, so sure that the only wonder was that the supply of it should have so lagged behind the demand. The beginnings of the elevators were, it is quite true, the beginnings also of what in their earlier stages were known as the "elevator buildings."—Scribner's Magazine.

Can't Be Cut Off With a Shilling.

French parents (or, at all events, those with more than 2 shillings to dispose of by will) are precluded from the gratification of cutting a mutinous child off with a shilling. A reserve is established by law which no testator can bequeath away from his offspring. A Frenchman with one child can dispose of half his property according to his pleasure; the other half must inevitably pass to the child. Those with two children can dispose of only one-third of their property, those with three children of one-fourth, and so on according to the size of the family. Stern parents occasionally seek to evade the law by subterfuge, but the disposal of property in France is hedged round with so many restrictions that family black sheep are rarely mulcted of their legal inheritance.—London Mail.

Not the Same.

The new minister was making a duty call at the home of one of his flock, and, taking a little six-year-old miss upon his knee, he said, "Now, my dear, you want to be a Christian, like mamma, don't you?"

"No, sir," was the unexpected reply. "I would rather sing in the choir."—Chicago News.

Fraud Rampant in Mines.

Chief Roderick, of the Mining Bureau, who was in Wilkes-Barre commented on the efforts of District President McEnaney, of the United Mine Workers, to drive corrupt members of mine examining boards into retirement. He said: "If I were to stop every man with a fradulent certificate from working in the mines nearly all the collieries in the coal region would have to shut down as 70 per cent. of the certificates are fraudulent. McEnaney is doing good work, but I fear he has a big contract on his hands."

THE MARIENBAD WORLD.

Taking the Cure at the Salt Springs of Bohemia.

When you are at Marienbad the first sound you hear is tap, tap, tap, at your bedroom door.

"Half past 5! Time to get up!"

"All right!" you growl in reply, railing while you slowly get out of bed against the absurd tyranny of medicinal waters that insist on being taken so early in the day.

Sallying forth, you find the Marienbad world already astir. Water drinkers are converging from all sides to the spring. Each one on arrival provides himself with a glass and goes forward to receive his daily dose. You join the waiting file. Soon it is your turn, and the attendant maiden for a modest coin fills you a bumper. You take it aside and eye it keenly, holding it to the light. Then, surreptitiously sniffing, you taste it cautiously. The flavor, it appears, is not unpleasant. You are reassured, and, assuming a resigned air, you drain the glass.

Elated by this proof of your courage, you walk out. The band is playing, the promenade crowded. Here you may see the crowned heads, millionaires, great singers and all the other celebrities who frequent Marienbad.

There is a peculiarity of the place that will quickly strike you—the stoutness of many of the visitors. As the Baron von Seidsplitz, himself a man of girth, remarked to an English friend, "There are many thick people in Marienbad."

Hunger by this time probably possesses you, for it is 8 o'clock, but do not expect a hearty breakfast. Crisp rolls or toast and fragrant coffee will be enough, served in the open air. To a favored few an egg or a small plate of cold meat is permitted.

Curious morning tasks are prescribed for some of the patients. Mr. X., for instance, is ordered a piping hot mud bath, while Mr. Z. follows the "terrain" cure. This consists in walking an increased distance each day, so as gradually to strengthen the organs of which the functions are impaired. Most people, however, spend their time in reading, writing or lounging.

The welcome call to dinner draws all together about 1 o'clock. Again the fare is simple, the motto being, "Nothing very sour, nothing very sweet, nothing very salt, nothing very fat." Even the restaurants are not allowed to provide dishes harmful to the "cure." So you make yourself content with fish, roast meat or chicken, green vegetables and stewed fruit, and, as for drink, water, diluted claret or Pilsener beer must suffice. Woe to him whose choice strays to made dishes, pastry, cheese or spirits, for these he must abjure as long as he stays at Marienbad.

To rest awhile without taking "forty winks" is the patient's next problem, and when he has worked through it he will probably stroll along to a concert or make an excursion among the delightful pine clad hills that inclose the Marienbad valley.

When evening approaches the gardens and promenade fill with people. They sit about at small tables and sip their coffee while listening to the band.

Your last meal is a light supper at 7 o'clock, and by 9 you should be in bed.

The normal length of the "cure" is four weeks. It is said, however, that Americans, with characteristic energy, have been known to compress it into something like half that time.—Philadelphia Ledger.
